U.N. Moves To Break Stalemate

Reds Agree To Attend Full Dress Meeting Requested by Allies

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—The U.N. comand today was reported planning a new and possibly bold move to break the Korean truce talk stalemate as the Communists agreed to a full dress meeting of armistice delegations Sunday.

There was no indication what the Allies will propose when the five-man delegations of admirals and generals meet Sunday. It will be the first plenary session since Feb. 19.

The U.N. called for the session after the Reds Friday broke off secret talks on how to exchange prisoners of war because the Allies said fewer than half the prisoners they hold want to go home.

The Communists said Saturday they would attend the full dress meeting, but asked what the U.N. command wanted to discuss. They were told the subject would be the "Armistice agreement."

Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, official U.N. spokesman, said this was the only answer the Communists would get.

The top negotiators will face three major stumbling blocks to a Korean truce: (1) The dispute over whether prisoners should be allowed to choose whether they will return home; (2) An Allied demand for a ban on airfield construction during an armistice; and (3) Communist nomination of Russia as a neutral inspector.

The Communists agreed to the plenary session 30 minutes before staff officers working on plans for supervising a truce held a brief and fruitless meeting.

No Headway

They made no headway during the six - minute session toward breaking the Russian and airfield deadlocks.

The staff officers will decide after Sunday's plenary session when they will meet again.

Prisoner exchange talks were recessed indefinitely Friday after the Allies said fewer than 70,000 of about 169,000 prisoners of war and civilian internees want to return to Communist-held territory.

The Reds had indicated they would not insist that all Allied-held prisoners be returned if they got back about 116,000.

The U.N. command screened all prisoners held on Koje Island to find out how many wanted to return home. Each was interviewed privately. Those who said they would object forcibly to being repatriated were moved to six new camps on the Korean mainland. Fewer than 70,000 remained to await repatriation.

The Communists apparently refused to believe that some 99,000 said they would go home only if forced to do so.

Allied Plane Loss for Week Set at 11

SEOUL (AP) — Communist ground fire knocked down eight Allied warplanes during the week ended Friday, the Far East Air Forces said today.

That number matched the toll of Red MIG-15 jets shot down in air combat by U. S. F-86 Sabre Jets during the same period. One Sabre Jet was lost in the air fighting.

In its weekly summary the Air Force said three other Allied planes failed to return for unknow causes. One downed plane was Australian, the others American.

The Red toll was put at eight MIG-15's destroyed, two probably destroyed and eight damaged. The damaged planes included one of the seldom-seen "Type 15" aircraft.

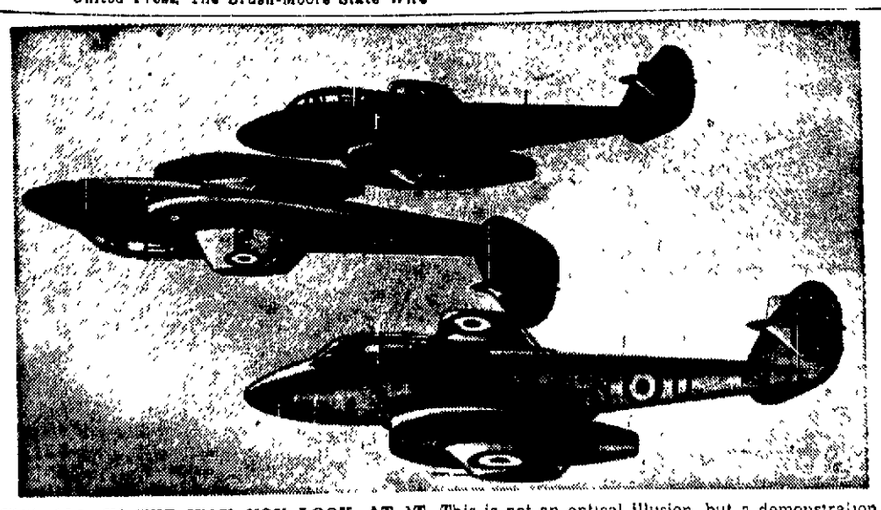
Additionally, U.N. warplanes destroyed one IL-ID and two Yak-9s and damaged two Yaks in strafing attacks on Red airfields in North Korea. Both types are Russian built.

The U.S. Eighth Army, in its weekly summary, said its troops inflicted 1,632 casualties on Red ground forces April 15-21. The figure, lowest in recent weeks, included 879 killed, 917 wounded and 36 captured. In Washington the Army said Red casualties for the Korean War reached 1,666,089 April 16. That was an increase of 17,613 in two weeks.

Only patrol clashes were reported along the 155-mile battlefront.

KILLED IN CRASHED

GREENBURGH, N. Y. (AP)—Georgiana Campbell Manville, 33, estranged eighth wife of playboy Tommy Manville, was killed in an automobile accident here today.



IT'S ALL IN THE WAY YOU LOOK AT IT. This is not an optical illusion, but a demonstration of expert precision flying. The Gloster Meteor in the center really is flying upsidedown, a tactical maneuver required of pilots attending the RAF Central Flying School at Little Rissington, Gloucestershire, England. The stunt calls for skillful handling of the controls since the jet trainer can be flown in an inverted position for only 15 seconds.

Sen. Russell Launches Bid For Votes

Makes States Rights, Internationalism Key Planks in Platform

ATLANTA (AP) — The campaign of Sen. Richard B. Russell for the Democratic presidential nomination was launched Friday night with cheers, confusion and a stand for internationalism and state rights.

There were two versions of the speech Russell was to deliver at the $50-a-plate dinner formally opening his campaign and the senator followed neither throughout.

While Russell made a strong effort in both versions distributed to newspapermen to rise above sectionalism, just before he went on a radio network, James S Peters, Georgia Democratic executive committee chairman, declared:

"The South will sit at the head of the table or I will be damned if we will sit at all."

The 54-year-old junior senator from Georgia was forced to edit sharply whichever copy of the speech he was using to avoid running beyond his allotted 30 minutes radio time.

In the pared down version the bachelor senator, a veteran of 20 years in Washington, asserted, "we must preserve our constitutional government" and "protect the sovereign states against over concentration of powers in the federal government."

Russell, who left here today to begin campaigning in Florida, hastily concluded by saying that if the South "will stand firm at the convention, Democrats from the rest of the nation will come to us and we will receive victory."

The version of his speech handed out by his Washington office had Russell characterizing himself as "the only Democrat who can defeat a certain military person."

"Jeffersonian Democrat"

On the civil rights-states rights issue, the native of Winder, Ga., and chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, declared:

"As a Jeffersonian Democrat I believe in equality before the law for every American citizen without regard to race, creed or, color. I believe in equal opportunities to every American under our constitution. I oppose with vigor any federal infringement on the rights of states."

Just before he began his impromptu cutting of his speech, Russell also asserted:

"The Atlantic Pact and the North Atlantic Treaty Organiza-

Courthouse Speech on Schedule

Kefauver Tours Marion Area in Busy Campaign

The tall Tennessee Senator who wants to be the next President stops in Marion today in his busy campaign to win 33 of Ohio's 54 delegates to the Democratic national convention.

The senator, Estes Kefauver, was scheduled to speak from the courthouse steps this afternoon. His talk was expected to touch on the administration of the late Warren G. Harding.

SEN. ESTES KEFAUVER

In an advance copy of the speech he wrote, the candidate for the Democratic nomination for President declared, "Those who put all their faith in the Republican party to root out corruption may be sadly disillusioned. A great man went out from this city and became the victim of the selfish greed and avarice of those who used his party and their high places in it to plunder the natural resources of our country."

It was during the Harding administration that the Tea Pot Dome scandal took place — government oil land was leased illegally.

Must Beware of Those Men

"We need in both parties," Kefauver continued, "to beware of the kind of men who ruined Harding." "We in the Democratic party need to clean up our side of the street and we are doing it. I hope the Republicans will do the same on theirs."

In several speeches in northeastern Ohio Friday Estes Kefauver declared Republicans are "more concerned about property rights than human welfare;" and the Democratic party is just the opposite. The Associated Press reported. He also:

Advocated 90 per cent parity on farm goods prices.

Came out for the St. Lawrence Seaway project.

Said he liked Ohio Gov. Frank J. Lausche, but declined to say whether he would choose Lausche as a vice-presidential nominee.

Kefauver's itinerary today takes him through speeches, handshakes and smiles at Fremont, Fostoria, Tiffin, Upper Sandusky, Marion, Bucyrus, Galion, Mansfield and Akron. He flies to Florida tonight.

Methodists In Heated Debate At Conference

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Opponents of a plan to overhaul Methodist Church structure urged the church's General Conference today to put most of the program on the shelf for at least four years.

Proponents, equally determined, fought for immediate adoption of all the far-reaching proposals. Delegates braced themselves for another rousing session of debate.

Before the conference is a survey commission report which would halve the number of church agencies, slash the number of periodicals and cut by one-fifth the total membership of general boards and agencies. A new coordinating council would be placed at the top of the redrawn church structure.

"Undemocratic! A concentration of power!" opponents cried as debate began Friday.

"It will eliminate wasteful, uncoordinated efforts and save thousands of dollars," replied proponents.

The opposition moved quickly to place before the Conference a motion which would turn the survey report over to a coordinating commission until the General Conference of 1956. This would block many proposed changes since the commission would be concerned with carrying out only "such recommendations of the survey commission as may be done within the present structure and framework of the church."

U. S. Charges Drug Warfare

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) —America's top narcotics sleuth accused Red China today of drug warfare against the U.N. in the Far East.

Harry J. Anslinger, U.S. narcotics commissioner, said he will present fully documented cases to prove his charge to the U.N. commission on narcotic drugs next week. Anslinger is the U.S. delegate to the commission.

He told a reporter the Oriental Communists had a two-fold purpose: selling habit-forming drugs to finance party activities and buy war materials, and spreading drug addiction to undermine the morale of U.S. and other troops in the Far East.

North Korean as well as Chinese Communists are involved in growing, smuggling and selling the drugs, chiefly heroin, Anslinger said. Japan is the principal target. Japanese Communists were enlisted in the ring, he said.

Cities in Flood Path Hopeful

CLINTON, Ia. (AP)—A record Mississippi River flood crest was bearing down on this industrial city of 50,000 persons today after leaving upstream Dubuque where a slight recession now has begun.

All along Iowa's eastern border, however, today's reports were optimistic.

On the Illinois side no new overnight troubles occurred. Dike work continued downstream.

The Missouri River flood, meantime, was pounding along through central Missouri after leaving Kansas City.

Clinton's river stage this morning was 20.8 feet—a tenth of a foot above last year's all time high.

Ridgway, Emperor Swap Courtesies

U. S. Prepares To End Occupation of Japan

TOKYO (AP) — Emperor Hirohito and Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, commander of the fading Allied occupation, exchanged brief formal courtesy calls today as the hour neared for Japan's transition to a sovereign state.

Observers said it was unlikely the two would meet officially again after the seven-year Allied occupation ends at 10:30 p.m. Monday (8:30 a.m. EST).

Thirteen times in the past seven years the emperor has slipped quietly out of his palace for an "incognito" visit to Allied headquarters.

But this morning Hirohito appeared as a full-fledged monarch. His glistening black sedan complete with imperial crest—a huge 16-petal chrysanthemum — sped out of the front gate of the palace behind an escort of police motorcycles. The emperor was accompanied by five court officials.

Returns Call

Ridgway returned the courtesy call this afternoon.

Earlier, in a farewell radio address to the Japanese people, Ridgway said American troops will be withdrawn from Japan as soon as the nation is able to defend itself.

"I hope that day will not be so far distant," he said. "The United States certainly does not want to prolong needlessly the stationing of its troops anywhere abroad.

The occupation commander conceded there probably will be fric-

Ruling In Steel Grab Is Awaited

Historic Decision On Legality of Truman Move Up to Judge

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government and the steel industry sweated out in tense expectancy today a period of waiting for an historic court decision on the legality of President Truman's seizure of the nation's steel mills

After listening to argument by lawyers of both sides in a crowded courtroom Friday, Federal District Judge David A. Pine said he would "take the case under submission and give it my attention the exclusion of all other court business."

The 60-year-old jurist did not say when he might render his decision but legal experts said it may not be announced until Monday or later.

The soft-spoken judge had plenty of reading material for the week end—hundreds of pages of legal briefs filed by the government and six steel companies and the transcript of almost two full days of testimony, filled with legal footnotes.

Set Hike At $3 Ton

Meanwhile, the government authorized a $3 a ton average price rise for steel, effective May 1. But it won't take effect until individual steel companies apply for it or the government decrees it in force.

Price Stabilizer Ellis Arnall said $3 was all the steel companies were entitled to under present policy. The industry has estimated its costs would be boosted $12 a ton if government-recommended wage boosts were put into effect.

The $3 increase, on top of the current average steel price of $110 a ton, was granted under the Capehart Amendment to the controls law. That allows producers to raise prices enough to offset any cost increases between the start of the Korean war and last July 26. The industry never formally asked the government for price increases under the law.

The six companies engaged in the district court action have asked that Secretary of Commerce Sawyer be forbidden to raise the wages of 650,000 CIO steel workers. Truman turned the operation of the mills over to Sawyer after he seized them April 9.

5 Contest Legality

Five of the companies are asking Pine to declare the seizure order itself illegal, with Sawyer also the defendant in this suit. The six companies involved in the court action produce 70 per cent of the nation's steel.

Judge Pine took the case under consideration after the government contended the courts lack authority to nullify the Presidents seizure action.

Holmes Baldridge, the chief government lawyer said:

"It is our position that the President is accountable only to the country, and the decisions of the President are conclusive." In other words, in an emergency the President has power under the Constitution to do anything he believes is in the best interests of the country.

This drew replies from industry attorneys ranging from "shocking" to "contrary to all accepted American democratic principles of government."

Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) told a reporter Baldridge's statement is the "most absurd, most un-American and the most dangerous statement ever made by an intelligent person, if he be one."

Hike in Property Valuation for Tax Purposes Ordered

WHERE SEAMEN DIED. The Navy, in announcing the gun powder fire of undetermined origin," called it the worst naval disaster of the Korean War. The accident happened while the St. Paul was blasting Red shore batteries at Wonsan.

Will Rise Some 13 Per Cent Here

Tax Board Wants Standardization Throughout State

Property tax valuations in the city must be hiked an estimated 13.77 per cent in accordance with state board of tax appeals mandate, The Associated Press reported today from Columbus

The readjustment of valuations, ordered to make tax valuations standard throughout the state, will become effective with the December, 1952 collections

What readjustment will be required in the 22 other taxing subdivisions in the county will not be known until County Auditor Maurice Clements confers with state tax officials in the near future. Some may not be affected.

The increase in property valuation for taxing purposes will not mean that tax bills will increase proportionately. The tax rate will be lowered where possible so that the total amount of money collected in the new valuation will approximately equal that collected under the present valuation. If tax bills are higher at the December, 1952 collection, it will be mainly due to the addition of new taxes, such as the tax for the hospital bond issue, which has not yet been placed on the books.

Estimate May Be Changed

The 13 per cent figure for the city of Marion is one of the estimates compiled by the County Affairs Division of the State Department of Taxation. They are meant for the guidance of district taxing officials in meeting conditions of the board's mandate issue early in April. The 13 per cent increase may be changed when the county's over-all property valuation picture is complete.

The statewide valuation increase order is part of the board's plan to equalize property values throughout Ohio. It is aimed at closing at least part of the gap between valuations on the tax duplicate and the actual sale values of property.

State tax officials want auditors to make adjustments so the ratio of valuations on the tax duplicate will not be less than 50 per cent of the sale price of the particular property.

Applies To Aggregate Value

But the board says:

"It must be remembered that this 50 per cent minimum ratio (between assessed value and sales price) applies only to the aggregate value of real property in each of the taxing districts and has no bearing and must not be construed as being applicable to individual parcels or real property. In the valuation of an individual parcel of real property, its sales price is only one of the many factors to be taken into consideration by the county auditor when he performs his duty as assessor."

The board's order is based on House Bill No. 644 enacted by the 98th General Assembly. The board says the bill was not enacted to boost real property taxes, but to "insure that no county will get more than its fair share of state-collected tax money by maintaining lower real property valuations, due to the assessment of the same on a lower basis, than its neighboring county."

Some taxing districts will not be affected. They've kept up their valuation through almost continual reappraisals. But the majority have lagged behind. Many of these now are in the process of reappraising and investi-

Kind Word To Felons Brings Repercussions

Michigan Prison Psychologist Bawled Out by Governor

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — A rousing storm of criticism surged back and forth today over handling of the Southern Michigan Prison riot.

A series of investigations impended in the four-day mutiny which cost the life of one prisoner, wounded nearly a score of inmates and guards and left some $2,000,00 damage in its wake.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams, who approved the 11-point agreement on prison reforms demanded by 170-odd convict rebels, sharply reprimanded the young psychologist who negotiated the surrender terms.

Williams acted as various state officials demanded a shakeup in top prison personnel, mentioned a possible grand jury probe, and promised that the mutineers would be prosecuted for any crimes committed in connection with the riot.

Orders Reprimand

Williams ordered an official reprimand given to Dr. Vernon Fox, assistant deputy warden and chief prison psychologist who had broadcast his congratulations to the rebel leaders.

The 36-year-old Fox, popular with many of the huge prison's 6,500 inmates, spoke over the prison loudspeaker system Thursday just before the mutineers

One-Night Cancer Drive Nets $4,285

Leaders Gratified At Results; Tag Day on Today

Workers in the Cancer Night house-to-house drive in Marion Thursday have reason to be proud of the results of their efforts.

They collected $4,285.18 Thursday night . . . more than twice the amount collected in the residential drive last year.

Jackson H. Taft, chairman of the Cancer Crusade in the Marion County Unit of the American Cancer Society, reported that the county is virtually certain of going over the $9,000 quota. In the announcement made Friday, Taft expressed his gratitude for the cooperation of the volunteer workers and the public in making the drive a success.

Results of the collection in the rural area and on Cancer Tag Day, conducted today in the downtown area, will be made known next week.

Four Marion service clubs are collecting donations for Tag Day in the shopping area today. Members of Lions, Kiwanis, Y-Men and Jaycees are selling tags as the final phase of the Cancer Crusade.

Navy Takes Wraps Off New Super Submarine

By ELTON C. FAY
Associated Press Military Affairs Reporter

WASHINGTON (AP) — The submarine Trigger—new, compact and full of gadgets—was moored here today to show defense officials and Congress members the long strides being made in undersea warfare.

The Trigger, powered with the new radial-type Diesel engines, has a higher speed submerged than on the surface, due primarily to the tear-drop streamlining of her hull. The speeds attained may not be disclosed.

Shorter than present fleet submarines, including the Guppy class boats, and with a different hull design, the Trigger can maneuver better than the long, narrow-hulled craft. A small turning circle is highly important to a submarine in both offensive and evasive operation.

Topside, the new Trigger looks much like the Guppy boats except for a wider beam and shorter length.

But below, the fact that she is an entirely new type, instead of converted, is noticeable immediately. The engine room is a marvel of compactness, even for submarines. The fact that the four radial engines stand vertically, instead of horizontally, makes it possible to house the power plant in substantially less space than in other fleet submersibles.

Although she has a superstructure like Guppy class and the older submarines, the conning tower no longer exists as a tower.

Home, Sweet Home

The author of an ageless song comes home

A thousand trained singers stood at an open grave. It was a strange funeral. In the casket were the remains of a United States consul who had been dead 31 years.

During the first half of the last century John Howard Payne was one of the most successful playwrights on two continents. As an actor, Payne was a sensation in New York, Baltimore, Philadelphia, London and Paris. As a critic and journalist his works appeared on both sides of the Atlantic. As a musician, John Howard Payne didn't know middle "C" from "A" flat.

Everybody knows that the author of "Home, Sweet Home" didn't have a home of his own. But the legend that he was a penniless waife only makes for a good story. Payne didn't have a home for a good reason—he didn't want one. It was, in fact, all his physician father could do to keep the stage-struck youth in college two years before he forsook his comfortable Long Island home to see the world from behind footlights.

At 32 John Howard Payne lounged in his Parisian apartment and worked on a play he called "The Maid of Milan." The melody of a Sicilian folk song he had heard while roaming about Italy kept running through his mind. So Playwright Payne wrote some verses to fit the tune and put them into his script. "The Maid of Milan" played at London's Covent Garden Theater 12 times and folded up. But that part of the script called "Home, Sweet Home"—the verses Payne wrote to fit the folk tune—was printed in sheet music and sold 300,000 copies the first year. Not realizing its value, the playwright had sold "The Maid of Milan" outright and the only pay he got from the sale of "Home, Sweet Home" was the enjoyment of hearing it. Payne was still enjoying it 27 years later when he sat in P. T. Barnum's National Theater in Washington with President Millard Fillmore, Henry Clay, Daniel Webster and Gen. Winfield Scott while fabulous Jenny Lind sang "Home, Sweet Home" and everybody "stamped and shouted as if they were mad." If Payne was mad it was because he hadn't gotten a cent for the colossal hit.

John Howard Payne's plays have long since had their run. Nor was it because he had twice been United States consul at Tunis, Africa, that his body was returned to his native country. His friends just wanted the author of "Home, Sweet Home" brought back home. And as the body of the once roaming playwright was lowered to its final resting place in Washington's Oak Hill Cemetery, the choir of a thousand voices sang:

'Mid pleasures and palaces though we may roam,
Be it ever so humble, there's no place like home.
A charm from the skies seems to hallow us there,
Which seek thro' the world, is ne'er met with elsewhere.

An exile from home, splendor dazzles in vain;
Oh, give me my lowly thatched cottage again.
The birds singing gaily, that came at my call;
Give me them and that peace of mind dearer than all.

I gaze on the moon as I tread the drear wild
And feel that my mother now thinks of her child
As she looks on that moon from her own cottage door
Thro' the woodbine whose fragrance shall cheer me no more.

Refrain . . .

Home! Home! Sweet, sweet home!
Be it ever so humble,
There's no place like home.

One Thing Lacking

A Sermonette

By DR. J. B. HOLLOWAY
Pastor of Trinity Baptist Church

"One thing thou lackest"—Mark 10:21.

The episode of the rich young ruler's interview with Jesus in seeking to know what he might do to inherit eternal life is a story packed with pathos, but typical of many today. It contains the upsurge of youthful ambition, the deep concern of a loving Saviour and the sorrowful and tragic ending when Christ's plan for a life is refused.

Thousands of young people across the nation will soon be graduating from the high schools and colleges eager to find their places in the warp and woof of society and make their contribution to the social order in which they live. Like the rich young ruler, most of them have lived exemplary lives and have kept the commandments from their early youth and are unafraid to face life. They are bold, daring, courageous and will not be brushed aside in their diligent search for the very best, as they interpret the best for themselves, although their conception of the best or even the good may be shallow and superficial for lack of knowledge and experience.

THE YOUNG RULER came running to Jesus and reverently kneeling before Him, asked the "Good Master" what "good thing" he might DO to inherit eternal life. He thereby revealed a superficial knowledge of the truly good for Jesus in turn inquired of him why he had called Him "Good" since only God is perfectly good. Jesus was testing him to discern whether he really believed in Him as the very Son of God or whether he was merely using a polite salutation in addressing Him. Furthermore his conception of the requirements for obtaining eternal life were shallow since it can never be on the basis of mere doing, but rather by believing and being a changed person. The young man had been "good" in that he had scrupulously kept the law all his life, but his own heart told him that something was still lacking.

The Gospel record tells us that Jesus "beholding him loved him" and doubtless saw in this young man untold possibilities for good if he could be brought to a full surrender of himself to Christ. The Master put before him a severe test to see if he would be willing to give up the one thing he loved supremely and place Christ upon the throne instead. Jesus very tenderly but firmly put his finger upon the sore spot in the young man's life. Matthew's account of the story quotes Jesus as saying to him: "If thou wilt be perfect go and sell all that thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven, and come and followe Me" Surely Jesus did not mean that this young man or anyone shall be condemned to life as a pauper the rest of their days.

THERE IS NOTHING inherently wrong in owning possessions. It is sinful when we wrongfully obtain material possessions or misuse them or make them our God. It is the "love of money" that is the root of all kinds of evil and not money itself. Jesus saw in the young man a potential steward of his wealth, for the wiser and more unselfish use he made of his possessions on earth the greater would be his treasures in heaven.

One thing was lacking and that one thing was complete consecration of himself to Christ. True discipleship requires that we give ourselves to the Lord, including our time, our talents, our influence and our wealth. The "model young man" turned his back upon Christ and "went away sorrowful for he had great possessions" and we hear of him no more. He went on through life with a shriveled personality when he might have developed into a Christ-like unselfish soul, a benefactor greatly beloved by all men of his generation. He went into eternity a lost soul because he had refused to walk in the way of life everlasting, defeated, disappointed and disillusioned

The youth of today may not have great material possessions to lay at the feet of the Master, but their opportunities for doing good and serving Christ by serving their fellowmen are as great as those which confronted the rich young ruler. The one thing required is complete surrender to His divine will and the one thing lacking in so many lives is the unwillingness to surrender some one thing which stands between themselves and Christ. Jesus said: "Come, take up the cross and follow Me".

Debate Scheduled

The affirmative side will be presented by Mrs. George Washburn and William Walters; the negative, by Meredith Myles and Mrs. Don Flach Bernard Amrine will serve as moderator.

For Senior Youth Fellowship meeting at 6 30 p.m. a film strip, "Science in God's World," will be shown. The Social Action Commission, Miss Barbara Wolf, chairman, will be in charge.

The Junior Youth Fellowship will meet at 6:30 with a program of progressive games, followed by a period of worship. In charge of the program will be the executive committee, Kathryn Kinsler, Bob Stauffer, Tom Jenkins and James Smith

Confident Living

Using Faith As a Source Of Power

By Norman Vincent Peale

IN THAT GREAT treasury of wisdom, the book of Proverbs in the Bible, you will find a line which reads, "If ye have faith nothing shall be impossible unto you." This points to an enormous power of achievement, the potential for which lies within each of us. As William James, first eminent American psychologist, said, the greatest discovery of the 19th century was the power of the subconscious mind touched by faith.

Dr. Peale

I know a man who is a lawyer and a banker in a small midwestern town. He first saw this town when he went to a nearby law school and had to find a job to help him through school. He looked the place over and decided the best opportunity for him was in the bank. So he walked into the bank and found the president, a stern-looking country banker, sitting at his desk near the entrance. "I'd like a job," my friend said, "I'd like to work in a bank."

"Well," the surprised banker replied, "what if I told you we didn't want anyone?"

"I'd be sorry to hear it," the young man told him, "and I would think you're making a great mistake, for I can help you."

"You're pretty confident of yourself, aren't you, son?" asked the banker.

"All I know is that I like this town. I want a job in this bank. I want to earn my way through law school."

"But we haven't the money to pay anyone," said the banker.

"How much would you pay if you did?"

"Well, if we wanted anyone and if we had the money, we might pay thirty dollars a month."

"All right," my friend said, "I'll start Monday morning."

"Wait a minute," shouted the banker, "I didn't offer you a job."

"Yes, you did. You said you'd pay thirty dollars if you had the money and I know you have it."

* * *

THE BANKER was so amused that he gave my friend a job. And the boy worked hard, learning all he could about banking. He progressed from office boy to teller to cashier. He was a vice president before he finished law school. Then he decided he wanted to practice law, but he remained a member of the bank's board of directors. In 1932, when all the banks were crashing, the president of the bank decided to close down.

"No," my friend said, "you can stay solvent."

"If you feel that way," he was told, "you take over and become president."

He took over, reassured the depositors and prevented a run, collected what he could from those who were in debt to the bank, borrowed enough more from a city bank to tide them over. The bank, unlike many others, never did close. It met every obligation.

I once asked my friend, "How did you get through that crisis?"

He chuckled. "It was prayer and faith—faith in people, in myself, in the country, and in God. One of the happiest moments of my life was after they asked me to take over and I realized that I could meet that challenge."

HERE IS A living example of that Bible text, "If ye have faith nothing shall be impossible unto you." And a man is indeed happy when he realizes his own power through faith in God.

This is one of the most thrilling experiences you can have in this life. Whatever your job or whatever task you have to do, you can find the power to achieve it through faith.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

CHICAGO

TELEVISION is more than meets the eye. It's more the new secret TV microscope used by the FBI and special police squads to magnify objects 100,000 times and project them on screens; it is more the electronic wizardry which will enable our GIs in foxholes to sit under cover and draw maps of enemy terrain, broadcast by airplane to portable "lookie-talkie" sets; it is the inter-com which flashes a picture as well as a voice in hospital corridors and business offices. All these are to be publicly unveiled shortly.

It's also time to report that informed economists see this latest product of American ingenuity developing a new industry to bolster our economy against the depression expected in the next five years. Nothing could be a greater reflection of our native American ability to land on our feet.

Within five years television will be a multi-billion dollar industry, employing hundreds of thousands of men, spending a minimum of $500,000,000 annually just for operation of studios; several billions more for repair of sets and stations; over $400,000,000 in fixed payrolls, and inestimable billions in entertainment and advertising expenditures.

THOSE ARE THE FIGURES given here in the technical capital of television, mid-way between the Hollywood and New York glamor talent centers. Here, Jimmie Petrillo, leader of the musicians; Georgie Heller, head of the AFL's Television Authority, and leaders of the electronic crafts which soon will build at least 50,000,000 new sets to augment the current 17,000,000, see happy days ahead for their people who've been over some rough spots recently.

"It'll be a new industry which will make radio look pigmyish and pump new blood into all business just as we're cutting away from war production," it was predicted by George Heller, once an entertainer himself.

"We'll be rolling by 1953, for the next five years. There'll certainly be a tremendous increase of performer work, and you can judge the rest of the industry by us. Just look—there are now 108 television stations broadcasting out of 63 cities. Of that there are 39 cities with only one station; 10 cities with two; 10 more with three and only four metropolises with four or more TV stations.

"NOW, WITH THE government allowing the opening up of 2,053 stations in 1,291 cities — all of America goes to work.' We expect about 75 new player parts to a station a week. That's about 150,000 weekly across the land or 7,800,000 a year. Just for performers that should be a minimum of $100,000,000 annually.

"And we always figure that a studio needs 10 technicians for every one performer. That means jobs for electricians, carpenters and skilled labor of all kinds. Everywhere."

A check with the Federal Communications Commission which has life and death power over TV, backed Heller's happy predictions. An official spokesman put it this way:

"This is show business as radio never was. A TV station will need at least between 30 and 40 men in the studio—any small studio. You can't just set up a sound-proofed room, a mike and an announcer to play records all day. This alone means 100,000 new jobs in addition to the entertainers.

"FURTHERMORE, it should build the movie production centers into vast new businesses with thousands of new jobs. What people do not yet realize is that TV will be mostly film. And the broadcasters already have used up their old films. Now the new stations will need new and specially constructed movies, half hour long, since TV limits you to just a few objects on the screen. This is one of the greatest industries we Americans have ever struck."

Television studios must be built before they can broadcast — and that will bolster the ailing construction field. It takes a minimum of $250,000 to build even a one-camera, one-studio station.

This means a minimum of $500,000,000 worth of construction—and probably one full billion when the bigger stations are completed. At the recent convention here of the National Association of Radio and TV Broadcasters, Jim Kelly of Greensboro, N.C., reported that the cost of running even a small station is some $20,000 a month. $5,000 a week in a small community is good economic medicine.

And not the least is the annual repair bill on the existing TV sets —running to $750,000,000 a year. Although manufacturers are building better sets, this tab will run to several billion annually, according to the experts, when 50,000,000 receivers have been installed.

That's the kind of thing which keeps us the kind of nation we are.

Lessons of War

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

WAR IS LIKE matrimony. Whoever it touches it changes.

Many who go through a war emerge from it with nothing but a feeling of resentment for the time it has taken out of their lives or the way it has frustrated their personal plans.

War teaches others how to appreciate the deeper joys of living. That is an odd byproduct of the business of killing.

The most immoral thing about war is its waste. And I think that in time this is what you get to hate most about it—the waste of life, the waste of food, the waste of money and metal. Everything about war is wasteful by necessity, and this fact weighs upon a man more and more. It is a violation against natural economy, the inherent urge in everybody to conserve.

In war you see so many things tossed away needlessly that it is hard ever afterward for you to throw anything away yourself. You become not so much a miser as a string-saver.

MOST AMERICANS take their food, clothing and shelter pretty much for granted. War teaches you how basic these things really are, and to be properly grateful for them. When you have shivered in a cold foxhole a few nights, the chance to sleep in a warm bed seems a blessing almost too wonderful to stand.

But while war gives you a real understanding or primary essentials it also removes a lot of snobbish delusions you may have had about what you ought to eat and where you ought to live. It teaches you that anything tastes good when you are really hungry, and that any place out of the wind's way is good enough when you are really wornout and sleepy.

No man who has known the real privations of combat ever again feels in his heart that he has to own a 12-room house to be happy.

War kindles a new appreciation in you for the simple pleasures in life you always took for granted before. You learn what things really hold meaning to you, what are unimportant — which goals you really cling to, which are no longer worth idly dreaming of. A sunset is a vast thing to you when you know it may be the last one you'll ever see.

PATIENCE IS A VIRTUE war teaches to many. In wartime you have to spend so much time interminably waiting . . . waiting . . . waiting . . . that if you cannot learn to curb your impatience you are likely to fret yourself into a quick insanity.

But perhaps the greatest gift of war is the instilling of an understanding of loyalty. The battlefield is the great crucible of friendship, and nowhere else is it tested more firmly. Men who have faced danger and shared fear and fought it down together know an unbreakable comradeship, a bright bond that will never fade.

These are a few of the things war teaches. All of them could be learned as well in peace. And perhaps in wiser days mankind will come to learn them in peace.

Judge Ruzzo Reprimands Local Youths

14 Appear in Court To Answer Charges; Five Are Fined

A total of 14 boys appeared in Juvenile Court Friday before Judge Edward J. Ruzzo.

Seven of the youths were charged with entering the Marie Ruehrmund home at 189 W. Church St. on or before April 14 and taking about $300 worth of valuables. These included a rifle, binoculars, gun and shell carrying cases and other things.

Judge Ruzzo ordered the youths to be at the home at 10 a.m. today and clean up the damage they had made. The items the boys took had been returned, Judge Ruzzo said. The work was done under the direction of Police Juvenile Officer Virgil Campbell.

Four Marion County youths were ordered in on shop lifting charges. Only two of the boys were charged, and they were fined $25 and costs each, ordered to make restitution to the store owners they admitted stealing from, and placed on probation for an indefinite period.

One other youth was implicated only in the theft of a pair of socks. Judge Ruzzo said he was admonished, ordered to make restitution, and released.

A fourth boy was released without charge when the evidence against him did not warrant the filing of any charges, Judge Ruzzo said. The youths were apprehended by Deputy Sheriff Elmer Ullom.

A 17-year-old Marion youth was fined $25 and costs when he was found guilty of speeding, driving without a driver's license, and attempting to evade the State Highway Patrol. He was also given a suspended sentence to the State Correction Center for Juvenile Delinquents at Columbus.

Two other youths, who were passengers in the car at the time of the youth's arrest, were admonished and released, Judge Ruzzo said.

tion between the Japanese and U. S soldiers. And he said he recognized that "Communists and other subversive groups will attempt deliberately to aggravate these difficulties."

As the hour of Japan's independence approached, occupation authorities returned to Japanese owners nearly 850 plants seized for possible reparations payments.

The list included 315 aircraft plants, 131 arsenals, 25 air and munitions laboratories, 19 iron and steel mills, 18 shipyards, 94 machine tool plants and six synthetic rubber factories.

Officials said no private industrial property was removed for reparations during the occupation. However, equipment from 17 former army and navy arsenals was distributed among China, The Netherlands, the Philippines and Great Britain.

ESCAPEE PICKED UP

A 17-year-old Marion youth was apprehended Thursday by Deputy Sheriff Elmer Ullom following his second escape in three weeks from the Bureau of Juvenile Research in Columbus. He escaped on April 2 and April 24. He was returned to the bureau each time, Ullom reported.

RUBBISH FIRE

Only one call was reported for Friday by the fire department. Firemen extinguished a rubbish fire on the site of the new YMCA building at Church and High Sts. at 4:59 p.m.

Time Change Will Affect Parts of Ohio

Persons planning trips by rail Sunday and thereafter are reminded of the changes in train schedules out of Marion and the switch to daylight saving time in many cities.

Changes in train schedules, effective Sunday at 12:01 a.m., were announced earlier in the week by Robert H. Stief, ticket agent at the Union Station.

Baseball fans planning to attend the games at Cleveland during the season are reminded of the change in the eastbound New York Central which will leave at 9:35 a.m instead of 9:10 a.m., and also of the switch to daylight saving by the city of Cleveland. The train will arrive at Cleveland at 12:10 p.m, railroad time, which will be 1:10 Cleveland time.

Other effects of the switch to daylight savings time in other cities include the moving up by one hour, the times of most television programs.

Kefauver

son Day dinner in Fremont last night Kefauver made a bid for farm and labor votes

"Everybody knows organized labor has come into its own under Democratic administrations," said the senator.

Farmers, he said, well know they were the forgotten men in "those dark days of steadily declining farm prices during the 1920's.

"The Republicans said the farmer would just have to grin and bear it . . . We Democrats knew we could do something about it—and we did."

Democratic leadership, he said deserves the credit for the success of farm cooperatives, soil conservation legislation and rural electrification.

Kefauver said parity, a system for balancing the prices of farm products with the costs the farmer pays for his goods, "should be 90 per cent at least. But 90 per cent parity will be inadequate in the long run. The farmer cannot be expected to have as his ultimate goal anything less than full equality with others.

Should Count His Labor

He also said that in applying the present parity formula, "we should seriously consdier allowing the farmer to count his own labor as part of the costs of production."

In Lorain, he promised to do everything possible to see that completion of the St. Lawrence Seaway is authorized by Congress.

In Sandusky he described Lausche as a "good friend" and "one of the nation's outstanding executives."

"However, I do not want to be put in the position of saying whom I would choose as the vice-presidential nominee at this time" he added.

Kefauver also visited the birthplace of inventor Thomas A. Edison at Milan and made brief speeches at Elyria and Oberlin.

Two Arrested On Traffic Charges

Two persons were arrested on charges of traffic violations, city police reported Saturday.

Maurice W. Reeder, 51, of 372 Leader St. was arrested at 7:13 p.m. Friday on a charge of driving with insufficient brakes on Kenton Ave. His car was held for his appearance in Municipal Court.

Allison T. Coy, 18, of 475 Scranton Ave. was arrested on a charge of driving with a temporary permit without a licensed driver in the car. The arrest was made at 5:07 p.m. on N. Main St. His car was held for his appearance in Municipal Court.

Banker Meets Boss After 21 Years

FORT WORTH, Tex (UP)—It took a trip to Fort Worth to do it but a New York banker finally got to meet formally the boss for whom he'd worked 21 years.

Richard Yerg, assistant cashier of Chase National Bank, went to work at the institution in 1929, just one day after Winthrop W. Aldrich, now board chairman, joined the bank.

They exchanged nods for 21 years at the bank but were never formally introduced. The introduction came when Yerg was attending a banker's convention here and Aldrich happened to be visiting in Fort Worth.

Sandwiches Defined For Diet in Jail

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UP) — This definition of sandwich turned up in a call by the city of Fort Worth for bids on feeding city jail prisoners:

"A sandwich shall be construed to mean two slices of bread with the food specified between the said slices."

Referring to bacon and egg sandwiches: "The bacon shall be of sufficient length to reach from one side of the slice of bread to the opposite side of the slice."

Botanically, apples are close relatives of pears.

TURKEY WOULD FACE ATTACKS FROM BULGARIA, ROMANIA AND THE RUSSIAN CAUCASUS
MULTI-PRONGED ATTACK FROM EAST GERMANY WOULD BE AIMED INTO HOLLAND, THROUGH PARIS TO BRITTANY COAST AND SOUTH TO SPANISH BORDER
ATTACKS THROUGH ITALY FROM GERMANY, THROUGH GREECE AND TURKEY FROM BULGARIA WOULD BE AIMED AT WINNING MEDITERRANEAN
TWO-PRONGED ATTACK FROM SOVIET WOULD BE AIMED AT OIL OF IRAQ AND IRAN

HERE'S HOW RUSSIA WOULD ATTACK, EXPERTS SAY. If Russia decided to launch an attack against the western world, this is the way it would come, say military authorities. Main onslaught of the 14-pronged attack would come from East Germany, with France bearing the heavy brunt. NATO defensive strategy would be to attempt to slow the attack with available forces, with reserves being mobilized and atomic bomb attacks aimed. The Soviet is believed to have 175 active divisions, 40,000 tanks and 40,000 planes, but the experts don't think the Communists will strike this year.

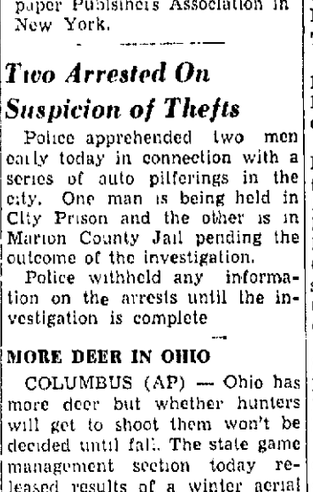
Two Arrested On Suspicion of Thefts

Police apprehended two men early today in connection with a series of auto pilferings in the city. One man is being held in City Prison and the other is in Marion County Jail pending the outcome of the investigation.

Police withheld any information on the arrests until the investigation is complete

MORE DEER IN OHIO

COLUMBUS (AP) — Ohio has more deer but whether hunters will get to shoot them won't be decided until fall. The state game management section today released results of a winter aerial survey made in 12 northeastern and southeastern Ohio counties. It said the largest number of deer —50—were spotted in Portage Co Lake County was next with 37, Ashtabula 24, Medina 16, Huron 15, Vinton two and Licking only one.



WARNS OF AIR RISK. Retired Gen Carl Spaatz, former Air Chief of Staff, warns the Senate War Preparedness Committee in Washington against any slow-down in the aircraft program. He declared that a one-year delay in building up a 143-wing Air Force would be an "inexcusable risk" to nation's security.

Revive Talk Of Water Link Across Europe

PARIS (UP)—The long talked-about project to build a water link between northern and southern Europe has been revived.

The French government has disclosed it is studying plans and costs of a canal joining the Rhone and Rhine Rivers.

Such a canal would provide a 1,300-mile-long inland waterway traversing the western continent from the North Sea, near Hamburg, to the Mediterranean near Marseilles.

The canal would join the Rhine and Rhone in Switzerland, where both rivers start. The Rhine flows northward between France, Germany and through the Netherlands. The Rhone flows southward through southern France.

Construction of such a link, an international undertaking, has modern precedent in the recent agreement among France, Italy and Switzerland to build the longest vehicular tunnel in the world through the base of Mont Blanc, Europe's highest peak.

To Use Lakes

The envisaged Rhone-Rhine link would make use of Swiss lakes lying between the two rivers, French authorities said.

"Our aim is to link together the Franco - Swiss Leman Lake — through which the Rhone River flows—to such Swiss lakes as Neuchatel, Bienne, the small Aare River and finally the Rhine River near Basle in Switzerland," a spokesman of the French government-owned Compagnie Nationale du Rhone said.

He said the undertaking would be between 90 and 100 miles long linking the 700-mile-long Rhine River with the 500-mile-long Rhone.

"Such a canal would be the outstanding achievement of the century," he said, "it would allow a north-south traffic for the first time throughout the continent."

The spokesman recalled that the Rhine River flows through such highly-industrialized areas as German-Switzerland; Lorraine, in France; the Ruhr in Germany and the Rhine delta, in the Netherlands.

Rivers Connected

"One must not disregard the fact that the Rhine is connected with such important rivers as the Moselle in France and Germany," he said.

The spokesman also explained that the French Rhone River is about to become completely navigable to large craft since its turbulent waters will be diverted next year into a cement-lined canal, between Donzere and Montdragon, which will be 75 feet wider than the Suez.

MUST FACE PROBERS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former revenue commissioner Joseph D. Nunan Jr., was under stern orders today to meet his twice-delayed date with House tax scandal investigators. Following an independent medical check of Nunan's health after his own doctors said he was too ill to appear, investigators late Friday directed the former top tax official to be on hand for questioning May 5.

gating their particular taxing pictures to conform to the board's order.

Offered After Conferences

To date, not all districts have received their estimated increases from the state. These are offered after conferences with the taxing officials of the districts, and after all the information on property valuations, and new appraisal figures are presented.

The conferences, all held at the State Office Building in Columbus, have been continuing for several weeks. Many others are scheduled in the near future.

Cleveland and Circleville will have to increase their tax valuations approximately 28.57 per cent and 25.06 per cent, respectively.

Estimated percentage figures of increase already offered by the state after hearings, include:

Middletown, 15.58 per cent; Hamilton, 10.13; Sandusky, 17.23; Lancaster 33.40; Columbus, 15.96; Findlay, 13.48; Mount Vernon, 29.70; Toledo, 6.04; London, 57 63; Chillicothe, 7.64; Fremont, 7.42; Upper Sandusky, 37.70; Elyria, 21 45.

Lorain, 17 per cent; Cleveland Heights, 14 55; Euclid, 31.13; Shaker Heights, 15.58.

Some areas, including Athens and Canton, have kept up their appraisals so that their adjusted ratio is above the 50 per cent minimum.

As state tax department officials pointed out, the estimates are "merely ratio studies offered tax officials to point out the weak spots in their duplicates." Auditors of the various districts are at liberty to make any changes.

But—if the districts fail to comply with the board's order, they can be deprived of some of the tax money distributed by the state to the various districts for one purpose or another.

ATOMIC SCIENTIST DIES

tion erected upon that pact are vital to the security of the American people. But these pacts are also vital to the security and freedom of the people of Western Europe."

Russell's six-point program also called for:

Unity against the dangers of communism.

Adequate defense without waste.

A balanced budget.

A thorough house cleaning of the national government. "Subversion and dishonesty on the part of public officials must be eliminated," the Georgia senator said.

Other Developments

Other political developments pointed up the Taft-Eisenhower duel for the GOP nomination.

Here are the most most noticeable:

1. Republicans in five states—Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado Georgia and Utah — elect a total of 59 nominating convention delegates at meetings today. In each state the battle was between forces of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower and Ohio's Sen. Robert Taft.

2. Gov. John S. Fine of Pennsylvania, who will head his state's 70-vote GOP delegation, said in Harrisburg "it looks like a two-horse race" between Eisenhower and Taft.

3. Much the same thought was expressed by Harold Stassen, former governor of Minnesota and a candidate for the GOP nomination. In Cleveland, he told newsmen: "I recognize that Sen. Taft and Gen. Eisenhower are the two front runners."

4. Taft and Eisenhower were pulling away from the field in tabulations of delegate strength. With 603 votes needed for nomination—a majority of the 1,205 total—Taft headquarters claimed, as of Thursday night, 300 for the Ohioan as against 213 for Eisenhower. The Associated Press tabulation — based on delegates pledged, instructed, favorable or willing to state a first ballot choice and on concessions — showed, as of Friday night; Taft 233, Eisenhower 216.

U.S. Army Mules Too Pampered

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Army can't even give away its mules abroad because they are used to too high a standard of living.

That conclusion was reached after hearings before a House appropriations subcommittee. The "good life" has resulted in the virtual abandonment of mules as pack animals and transporters of mountain artillery, according to Maj. Gen. W. O. Reeder, deputy assistant chief of staff.

The subcommittee learned from Reeder that in other countries, the American Army is at a considerable disadvantage in using American mules. It has been principally because the mules "are accustomed to the same high standard of living as we are."

As an example, the subcommittee heard that when a shipment of mules arrived in India, it was impossible to give them away because they ate more than any man except possibly a wealthy man. When asked how horses exist in the Orient, Reeder added that rich men have horses, "but they train them not to eat."

The army's chief mule buyer, Maj. L. O. Hill, of the quartermaster corps' remount branch, added that the 98 mules that the Army hopes to buy in fiscal 1953 will cost $200 each.

Williams termed Fox's message "highly improper."

Fox had praised convict chieftain Earl Ward as a "natural leader" and said he and his fellows were "to be congratulated on the good faith with which they have bargained."

"Fox," said the governor, "performed magnificent work in bringing about the surrender of the convicts in Block 15 and saving the lives of the guards.

Marines Land In Swamp, Everything In Hand

CHERRY POINT, N. C. (UP)—Aviation authorities at the Marine Corps air station here believe they have another helicopter "first."

A "whirly-bird" on a troop-carrying mission developed engine trouble and had to put down in an inaccessible swamp. Amphibious vehicles were unable to reach the grounded craft.

The Marines flew in two more helicopters, hovered over the spot and lowered swamp boards to make a landing platform. They then landed on the platform, dismantled the disabled craft and flew the pieces back.

The $185,000 helicopter was repaired and is flying again.

Mr. Big of the U.S.A.

UNLIKELY as it is that anyone still thinks Harry Truman is the kind of a fellow whose mistakes are purely accidental, the argument being used in behalf of steel seizure by lawyers of the Department of Justice confirms suspicion that dreams of dictatorship are glowing in Washington.

More than that it suggests there may have been a better reason for swapping attorney generals than the recent ruckus over Newbold Morris. It would take an attorney general with a strong conscience to let any government lawyer argue that Mr. Truman is beyond the reach of the Constitution.

To make certain that the implication would not be missed, Federal Judge David A. Pine revealed that the Department of Justice actually was contending that only the courts and Congress were limited by the Constitution. The Chief Executive—Mr. Truman in this instance—could do anything he pleased and could not be reached by either the courts of Congress.

Even if Congress passed a law, Mr. Truman could disregard it. He and he alone could make the decisions if he felt like it—and lately he has been feeling like it.

In brief, political affairs in the United States now have reached a state in which the man in the White House, backed by his own appointees, declares that he is Mr. Big.

There have been many times since Mr. Truman was designated to serve out the term of the dying Franklin D. Roosevelt when even his sympathizers wondered if he knew what he was doing. There is no place for doubt now.

He has to know what he is doing when he lets his atorney general try to set up an executive dictatorship. The question now is whether the people of the United States know what Mr. Truman is doing. He has just told them, in effect, that he is his own boss; that he cannot be touched by the Constitution; that he and he alone will decide what is good for them.

He isn't fooling.

Harry Truman has unanimously elected himself Mr. Big of the U.S.A.

Is that all there is to it, or does the country now unstuff the one-man ballot box?

Hands Off Those Billions

ANY cuts in the $51 billion military budget, according to Thomas K. Finletter, secretary of the U.S. Air Force, would spell disaster—and where have we heard that before.

There must be no cuts in foreign aid. There must be no cuts in domestic subsidies. The Air Force, Army and Navy are, of course, untouchable. Veterans' services and benefits must not be fooled with, nor social security, interest on the public debt and expenditures for general government.

In a budget total of $85 billion, not one cent can be spared. The mighty minds have budgets figured down to the fourth decimal place—in Washington.

Elsewhere, there must be more latitude. States and cities must warn motorists to dodge holes in unrepaired streets. Local government employes will not get living wages, accumulated sick leave and cots in the corridors because federal employes, a privileged class, already have skimmed off the cream.

Home grown politicos scrounge for pennies while federal big shots kick away a few hundred million in North African boondoggling and stock up on enough oyster forks to last the rest of this century. That's the way it is these days.

Charity still begins at home, but government has moved to Washington. Washington where the billions are untouchable. Washington where enough tax money is piddled away by thievery and stupidity to put 500 American cities in tip-top condition.

Living With A-Bombs

FROM the beginning of the A-bomb era, exploding in 1945, the puzzle of confining fear of atomic explosions within reasonable limits has baffled military authorities.

While it was to their advantage to inspire fear on the one hand, it was obvious from the time of the first explosions at Hiroshima and Nagasaki that the use of so dreaded a weapon by an enemy might demoralize their own forces.

The A-bomb explosion in Nevada Tuesday was the most overt attempt so far to overcome this fear. The troops who withstood the blast inside the danger area demonstrated the basic means of survival—protection in a trench.

This is essentially the same thing which has been stressed in all civil defene information—that a position beneath the surface of the ground provides protection from both the blast and the rays of an atomic explosion.

For what comfort it provides, the theory has now been demonstrated to be a fact. Look for a "better 'ole'."

"Gone With the Wind" is still blowing strong in Israel. In one of the biggest Tel Aviv theaters the good old Clark Gable-Vivian Leigh epic is daily drawing record crowds since it began its second run two months ago. Another Jerusalem hit is Cecil de Mille's "Samson and Delilah." But when the Jewish youngsters there spotted several deviations from the Bible tale, they critically shouted, "That ain't so."

Seizure Defense

By David Lawrence

Makes Bad Situation Even Worse

WASHINGTON

IT'S JUST ABOUT a mile between the White House and Capitol Hill where Congress meets—and it doesn't take but a few minutes for the President to send a message recommending what legislation he wants.

Yet Mr. Truman says he waited 99 days for the Steelworkers' Union to hold up their strike call and hence, when they did decide to quit work, it was too late to use the Taft-Hartley Act, which provides an 80-day wait. He declares also that there was such a big emergency he had to act even without a law. To him it was just like sending an "ultimatum" to Stalin. It was a great big emergency and there wasn't anything else to do, he claims, in order to keep steel production going.

Mr. Truman is right. There was an emergency. But it was of his own making. It was due to his failure to apply the provisions of the Taft-Hartley act. It is true this law doesn't provide a solution for what may happen at the end of 80 days but any time within that period Mr. Truman could have traveled the mile between Capitol Hill and the White House or sent up a messenger with a request that Congress give him authority to meet such a prospective emergency.

MR. TRUMAN'S defense of his seizure of the steel plants, as given to his press conference, makes a bad situation even worse. Conceding that he had no authority under any law and that he was acting under "inherent powers" of the Constitution, Mr. Truman pointed to international emergencies and to situations in which other Presidents like Jefferson and Tyler and Polk had acted without law to annex the Louisiana territory, Texas and Alaska. Those were all purchases or annexations of land. There was no seizure of the private property of any American citizen.

If Mr. Truman has been looking for instances in which Presidents have done unconstitutional acts and have gotten away with it, there are plenty in the history books. Public acquiescence sometimes discourages any challenge of a law or of an executive action that is popular, but this does not mean the acts are thereby legalized.

IT IS REGRETTABLE that Mr. Truman should seek to justify his own course by pointing to some unconstitutional acts of his predecessors. For it accentuates the very issue that has been raised in the past two weeks—that another President of the United States some day may seize private property without a law and blandly announce: "Truman did it—so it's all right."

Much more candid was the observation of government attorneys in their argument before Judge Pine the same day on the subject of an injunction sought by the steel companies to restrain the secretary of commerce from paying out a wage increase to which the owners of the properties have not agreed. The government attorneys conceded that the seizure did not have any sanction of law and was simply an action taken in an emergency to prevent the stoppage of steel production.

Mr. Truman's contention is that he was faced with an emergency and then acted. Nobody would be criticizing him today if he had acted in a suddenly developed crisis, especially if he had gone immediately thereafter to Congress to seek ratification of his action.

BUT MR. TRUMAN never told Congress about the steel situation till after he seized the properties and even then he didn't ask for a law to justify that seizure or to take care of future seizures.

The President's action has begun to arouse the nation to the point where demands for impeachment are being made in an increasing number of letters every day to members of the House of Representatives. Mr. Truman sought to minimize the gravity of his answer to the American Society of Newspaper Editors last week when he answered a question as to whether under similar circumstances he would seize the newspapers and radio stations. Now Mr. Truman declares he never had any such idea. But why is it that it took almost a week to get a denial from the President as to the implications of his remarks? The answer is that Mr. Truman now is hearing from the country and is retracing his steps.

If Mr. Truman had really thought about it, he might have defended his first answer to the editors a bit by pointing out that, if atom bombs destroyed many of our cities, the government would undoubtedly take over radio stations in such an emergency.

But the obvious attempt of Mr. Truman to argue that a national emergency arose just because he went from the frying pan into the fire on the steel dispute means that Mr. Truman certainly is badly in need of sound advice from friends. They might tell him that the best government policy is that which is fair to all citizens and not just to members of the CIO.

Stranger in Washington

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

YOU COULDN'T BLAME a stranger who wandered into Washington if he thought this place was a cross between Donnybrook fair and a circus where everytime a head popped up, socko.

If he sat in the Senate gallery this week, watching that enormously dignified body at work, he would have seen it solemnly vote to abolish the RFC, the gigantic government lending agency doing business since depression days.

But it was a slight mistake. That was only the first go-round. The Senate had to cast a final vote. But before it did some of the senators who voted to knock RFC into the bleachers got up and left.

So when the Senate voted again, it voted to keep RFC, all within the space of a few minutes. And if this same visiting stranger had been at President Truman's news conference Thursday he would have been astoundetd, like everyone else.

THE PRESIDENT calmly announced—he said it was the first time the news was being given out—that back in 1945 or 1946 he gave Joe Stalin an ultimatum to get out of Iran.

Since an ultimatum, in diplomatic language, is the last word before war, a White House aide came around to set things straight.

The aide explained that the ultimatum wasn't really an ultimatum. He said the U. S. had operated through diplomatic channels to express its displeasure at Russia and besides news of these doings had been published years ago.

But if the visitor had been here a couple of weeks he would take this in stride, remembering how he had thought he had seen everything when he first arrived.

That was the day of the double bouncing of Newbold Morris and Atty.-Gen. J. Howard McGrath, which came right before the roof fell in with the steel dispute.

The night the Preident took over the mills the visitor—like everyone else—could have seen him on TV, blasting the mill owners for wanting "outrageous" price increases. Then, the next night, one of the owners was on TV blasting the President as a distorter of facts.

UP IN CONGRESS, the Republicans not at all unmindful that this is an election year when hay smells nice if you can make it, got up one by one and belabored the President as a dictator and usurper.

Just to confuse things some more one of the Republicans, Sen. Morse of Oregon, hopped up to defend the President.

Now the bewilderment of our visiting stranger at this point would be nothing compared to his amazement Thursday night when one of the steel mill presidents, instead of calling the Trumanites a bunch of bureaucrats, described them as witch doctors.

At the same time, two men on the opposite side of the political fence, a Republican and a Democrat, Sen. Taft and Secretary of Labor Tobin, teamed up in separate speeches to put the blast on Eisenhower for not being more specific on affairs at home.

It's going to be a warm summer, our visitor might well think.

Reds Execute "Witch"

HONG KONG (AP)—The Chinese Communists apparently have executed the Witch of Chaoan.

For many years Madam Lin made a grubby living through her bargain basement links with the "other world."

But the Reds found Madam Lin tough competition. Apparently the peasants listened to the Marxist gobbledygook and then to the Madam's fuzzy incantations and decided that Madam Lin made more sense.

But, whatever the cause, the Reds arrested her and after a public trial she was executed according to the Hong Kong independent newspapers.

The frescoes were part of an ancient church which was turned into a barn when a new church was built in Russi.

The thre frescoes represent three unidentified saints and are in excellent condition.

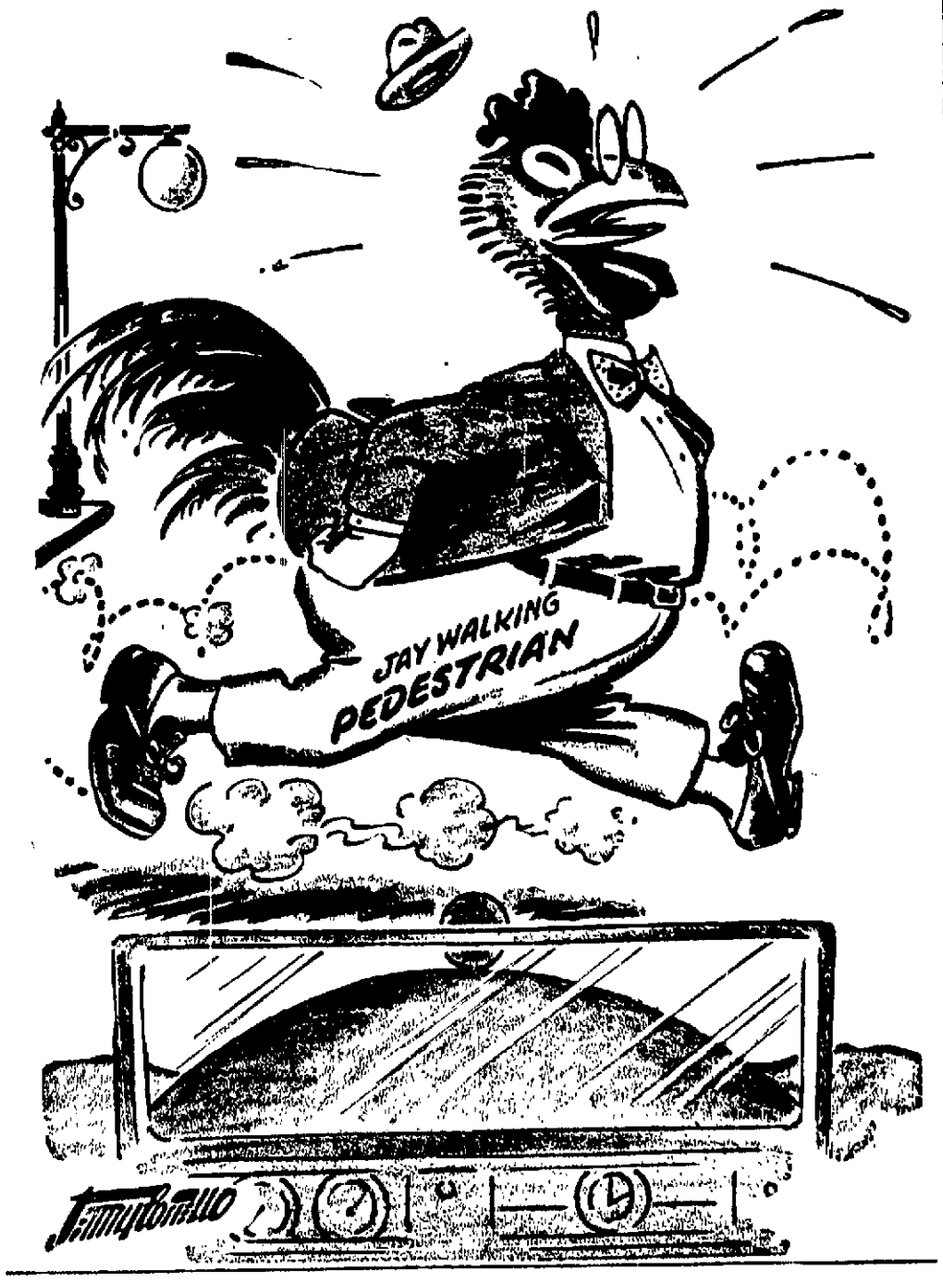
As the Driver Sees Him



Fascism at Work in The U. S.

By George E. Sokolsky

FASCISM IS A principle of the control of society by the direct intervention of government in the affairs of men. It narrows the limits of human freedom by making decisions which in a free society are regarded as the province of the individual, not of the state.

Fascism, in its numerous vacilations, was a direct response to the confusions of the aftermath of war. World War I did not open the world, as Woodrow Wilson had expected, to an increased acknowledgement of human freedoms; rather it produced revolution, the overturn of long-established governments, and finally the seizure of power by oligarchies in the form of dictatorial political parties. Fascism in Italy elevating Mussolini, Nazism in Germany elevating Hitler, Bolshevism in Russia ultimately elevating Stalin after a struggle for power within the oligarchy, the rise of the Communist - Kuomintang power in China out of which Chiang Kai-shek emerged — all these and many more such uprisings were responses to disorder, to a need for tightening the reins of governmental power at the cost of human freedom. They were efforts to restore order but on the basis of the enslavement of the population to the authority of those who had managed to control the state.

THE FIRST ATTEMPT at dealing with American problems in this manner was the presentation to Herbert Hoover of a memorandum on a way to handle the American depression by leaders of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. Concerned in this were Henry I. Harriman, Myron C. Taylor, Owen D. Young, and Gerard Swope, as I recall it. Mr. Hoover turned this memorandum down as Fascistic, as an American adaptation of Fascism. Hoover's office memorandum, written at the time, said:

". . . In fact, if such a thing were ever done, it means the decay of American industry from the day this scheme is born, because one cannot stabilize prices without protecting obsolete plants and inferior managements. It is the most gigantic proposal of monopoly ever made in history."

SUBSEQUENTLY, THIS plan became the NRA, symbolized by the Blue Eagle. The NRA sought to organize management into trade associations, the workers into unions, with the government as the final voice.

This institution was thrown out by the Supreme Court as a violation of the Constitution. The Wagner Act was substituted, the National Labor Relations Board was created, and the La Follette Committee was used to frighten off opposition.

Out of these beginnings, a system developed which made the Government the third and determining factor in all industrial relations. Bureaus were set up, staff was employed on a permanent career basis to deal with wages, hours, working conditions, union affiliation, etc. Fear of the consequences of the depression and the controls necessary during the war strengthened the power of government and expanded its function.

COLLECTIVE BARGAINING, the freest characteristic of Amer-

Nolle Prosequi

By TRUMAN TWILL

Some of my best friends are lawyers. If I were one of them, I think the following statement by John A. Stephens, vice president of U.S. Steel Corp., would give me the shivers.

Testifying before a Senate committee on the steel-seizure ruckus, Mr. Stephens, whose specialty is industrial relations, said:

"I am not a lawyer. But as an ordinary citizen I do have a view about seizure; I don't consider it a proper remedy for a labor dispute."

Rarely does a day pass any more in which at least one person does not say something like this in connection with an issue on which he has reached a decision—that he is "not a lawyer but . . ."

The implication is that many questions in public controversy look like one thing to ordinary citizens but look like something else to lawyers.

In view of the fact that many of the ordinary citizens who make this crack can and do hire lawyers to make things look the way they want them to look, the implication is as broad as a meat ax that the legal profession is able to look at things in ways peculiar to its practitioners.

When it is further recalled that some of these ways are at variance with the ways that ordinary run of people look at them and that lawyers can be found who will look at things in diametrically opposite ways, lawyers should begin to give some thought to their place in a government of law.

If the law can be twisted in any given instance to say what lawyers want it to say, what then becomes of the claim that the United States is a government of law, not of men?

Is it not then on the verge of becoming a government of lawyers, instead of men, which is the very thing the American people have been trying to avoid?

Theoretically, all legal controversies in this country can be settled by appeals to ever-higher courts until finally the Supreme Court declares what the law really is.

But in practice there is not the necessary time to do this in all cases and in many cases where it can be done it cannot be done quickly enough to avert irrevocable damage to the parties concerned. Moreover, the Supreme Court, itself, is an assemblage of lawyers who got there by being able to see things in a way which qualified them for favorable attention by the politicians who appointed them and confirmed the appointments.

As I say, if I were a lawyer, I'd fret under the implications of that crack by John A. Stephens (and many others) that lawyers have special ways of looking at questions involved in the public issues of the day and that their special ways may take precedence over an ordinary citizen's concepts of justice and equity.

Convention Prophecy

"I SEE IT QUITE clearly," said Squeegee the Seeress. "There's a great auditorium . . . a scene of frightful disorder . . . something like a panic is going on. . . . It seems to be a large body of perspiring men trying to name a vote-getting Democratic candidate for President."

"See anybody in a coonskin hat?" we asked.

"Yes, and I observe a big following. . . . But I see a jack of spades in the picture beside him. . . . It can only mean bad luck."

"Do you recognize anybody else?"

"I see a very big letter 'H'."

"Harriman?" we asked.

"It could be Harriman or it could be 'Harry.' . . . I also hear a loud explosion . . there is a great cloud of gaseous smoke . . . a wooden nutmeg . . . a stout man making a loud speech."

"Brien MacMahon, of course," we said "What's happening to him?"

"Nothing much," said Squeegee the Seeress. "It's all so confused. . . . Now I hear 'My Old Kentucky Home' . . . several jokes . . and I hear loud laughter. . . . I get a scent of orange blossoms and mint."

"Alben Barkley," we said.

"Now I seem to get a picture of a plantation and somebody singing 'Dixie.' . . . There's a Confederate flag . . . the rebel yell."

"That's Mr. Russell," we concluded

"The chaos grows. . . . Everybody is yelling . . . The letter 'H' is getting bigger, and it is not 'A.W.H.,'" said the seeress

"Are you sure the 'H' is not a 'K' for Kerr?" we asked.

"Positive. And I now see the 'H' followed by the letters 'A' two 'R's' and a 'Y.' . . . They're singing 'I'm Just Wild About Harry! They're naming him. . . . He's accepting"

"But he announced flatly that he would not run again," we said.

"I hear the words 'DUTY' and 'EMERGENCY'," said the seeress. "Also 'Obligation to the Party.' . . . He is making a speech. . . . He is declaring he did not want to run again, that eight years were plenty and that no man is indispensable. . . . But hark' . . . I hear him plainly saying, 'You have put this up to me in such a way that I would be fleeing from a call to duty if I refused the nomination. Gentlemen, I accept and HOW I HATE IT'!"

"Look," we said to the Seeress, "you have made mistakes at times, have you not?"

"Only in cases of difficult prophecy. THIS ONE WAS EASY," snapped Squeegee.

We heard the Atomic Bomb explosion and saw the telecast but thought it was Leo Durocher in another argument with an umpire. . . "Corruption Purge In Egypt"- headline . . . Somebody claiming there's been a "fix" in the Suez? . . . Or that the Sphinx was paid to keep quiet?" . . . In "African Queen" Hollywood reproduced the first stomach rumble heard on a movie screen. . . . What? No credit line? . . . Even if Estes Kefauver loses the Presidential nomination he is still sure of being named Rookie of the Year. . . . "F. D. Roosevelt Jr., Says Any Democrat Can Win" -headline. . . . Wanna bet? . . . Maybe Harry Truman gets his interest in steel through his will of IRON. . . A trout fisherman writes us that the brooks are so crowded they should have signs every fifty feet "NO SHOVING OR JOSTLING." . . . Each week video is now telecasting the same complete play five nights in succession. . . . Ima Dodo tuned into it on the third night in a row and called the repairman saying, "My set is stuck." . . These are days when half the people are painting a boat and the other half kibitzing.

TWENTY YEARS AGO—It was Tuesday, April 26, 1932.

The school board of education cut two weeks from the current school term, scheduling school to close on May 13, thus reducing the 1931-32 term to 34 weeks. The step, according to Supt. George A. Bowman, was part of the board's effort to end the fiscal year Dec. 31 without a deficit.

As "the sure highway to national recovery," President Hoover voted to the governors' conference the "absolute necessity" of reduced expenditures, better distributed taxation and balanced budgets on the part of government.

The 24th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. George Hagemann of Curley Ave. was celebrated with a surprise party at which guests were members of the Auxiliary of Patriarch Militant, IOOF, and their husbands.

No Chance for Error

NEW YORK (AP)—L. W. Churchill, farmer near Westmoreland, N.H., hunters report, made doubly sure last season that his cows would not be mistaken for a deer or some other wild animal. He painted "C-O-W" in large letters on their sides.

Marion Garden Center Notes

GLADIOLUS

It is quite common practice among growers to divide their No. 1 bulbs, because each piece will grow into a new bulb, while when undivided, each bulb may produce only one stem, and consequently, one new bulb. The largest bulbs might be easily divided into four pieces if each has a good, strong eye.

The size and value of the corms for another year depend upon the proper growth and maturity of the leaves, which manufacture the food and store it in the corms. For this reason, two or three leaves should always remain on the plant when the spikes are cut, otherwise the corms will not grow large.

Area Youth Is Elected To Model Govt.

Upper Sandusky Boy Senate Chaplain In Y Legislature

An Upper Sandusky boy, James Truesdell, a delegate to the model legislature, YMCA youth and government program being held in Columbus this weekend, was elected to the position of chaplain of the senate for the session, according to an Associated Press dispatch today.

Four Marion boys are participating in the sessions One of these, Joe Thomas, who was a nominee for boy governor, was named to the governor's cabinet. Elected governor for the program was Mike Lewis of Cleveland Collinwood High School.

The three-day program is being sponsored by the Ohio YMCA to show high school students how state government works. The model house and senate meet today, and a joint session Sunday closes the program.

Friday night, Gov. Frank J. Lausche, in speaking to the group, told them no government official should be given unlimited power. A democratic government must stay within constitutional powers, Lausche said.

Earlier Friday, Attorney Gen. C. William O'Neill told the delegates a number of model legislatures in 26 other states had approved bills that became patterns for real legislation.

Bills the Ohio youngsters are considering would abolish capital punishment, lower the voting age to 18 years, provide for compulsory auto and truck inspections, provide military training for high school boys, and forbid locating airports within five miles of cities.

Y Men Hear Trip To Moon Is Possible

Cost Is Major Obstacle, Speaker Tells Dinner Group

It will be possible to fly to the moon as soon as enough money is available to finance the undertaking, members of the Y Men,s Club learned Thursday night when Frank Mallett spoke on "Interplanetary Travel" at their regular dinner meeting in the YMCA.

Mallett, associate professor in the Department of Aeronautical Engineering at Ohio State University, is a 1934 graduate of Kenyon College and did graduate work in mathematics at Ohio State from 1934 to 1938.

He told the group that an artificial satellite must be established at least 500 miles above the earth as a landing spot for ships traveling to and returning from the moon. A rocket ship must be developed that can maintain a speed of 17,000 miles per hour for at least 500 miles, he reported.

Several advantages in being able to fly to the moon were cited by Mallett. He said that stations on the moon would aid radio and television transmission, facilitate weather prediction, and provide a military advantage. As disadvantages, he cited lack of atmosphere, exposure to radiation of light from other planets, and the possibility of getting hit by a meteor. He added, however, that the chances against being struck by a meteor are one to 100,000, and that solutions to the other problems have been discovered.

During a business meeting, the club voted to sponsor a Bantam League softball team. Booster tickets for Little League Baseball games were distributed for members to sell. Ray Hinklin was in charge of arrangements to take part in the cancer Tag Day drive today.

Guests were Kenneth Edgington, Ray Greiner, and Stephen Allen, son of Max Allen, a member of the club.

"BRING BACK THOSE MINSTREL DAYS" is the opening number of the Ice Vogues show to be presented May 5 through May 8 at the Veterans Coliseum. The chorus line pictured above brings back the days of Primrose Minstrels, the colorful street parade and the showboat in the opening number. Coupons, the price of which may be applied to the purchase of a ticket on the opening night, are being sold by the Woman's Board of the Marion City Hospital. Proceeds will be used to finance the board's work at the City Hospital.

Conservation Air Tour Plans To Be Made

Ralph Young and Richard Burwell of the Ohio Department of Agriculture Aviation will meet with supervisors of the Marion County Soil Conservation District and representatives of both civic and farm organizations May 8 at the Soil Conservation office at 194 S. State St.

The meeting will be designed to promote an interest among FFA and 4-H groups in a proposed air tour of Marion County. Land problems can be better observed from the air, exponents of the project feel. The tour is scheduled for early September.

Special ephasis will be placed on participation by school and club members in the proposed air tour.

At a recent meeting, the Marion County Soil Supervisors completed and approved soil conservation plans for a total of 1,907 acres of farmland. This acreage included the farms of C. T. Guthery, T. J. Crawford, Ben Sager, Harlie A. Redd, C. W. Swartz, Florence Mattox, Lowell McWade and O. M. Roux, all of Bowling Green Township.

Conservation agreements totaling 231 acres were approved for the farms of Merle J. Thomas of Prospect Township and Joe V. Harrod of Tully Township.

H. H. Berringer, chairman of the board, presided at the regular business meeting.

When you are cooking a smoked tongue, let the meat cool in the cooking water until it can be handled easily; then remove the outer skin and trim off the roots. Serve the sliced tongue with a hot mustard sauce.

Purchase of a coupon for the opening night of the Ice Vogues, May 5, at the Veterans Coliseum, will help the Woman's Board of the Marion City Hospital finance its most recent purchase for the Marion City Hospital, an oxygen tent.

While the board's major current interest is the well baby clinic, it also finances other philanthropic projects at the hospital. The oxygen tent has been ordered and it is hoped will be here in time to be inspected at the open house on Hospital Day, May 12.

Mrs. Lewis Ashworth is general chairman for the coupon sale. The board shares half (50 cents) in the sale of coupons to be applied to the purchase price of tickets for the opening night. Tickets are $1.50, $2.00 and $2.50 each. They may be purchased from any board member or at the National City Bank or the bank's West Towne Branch. Seats may be reserved at the Gallaher Co. Store.

Bobby Blake, a dynamic rhythm skater, star of many ice revues, heads the cast of 75 skaters. Featured also will be Milton Blakely and his orchestra with Wayne Thompson the singing master of ceremonies. Wayne was formerly with Fred Waring and Olsen and Johnson.

Among the new names on the program this season are several artists who joined the show last summer in Europe. From Denmark comes Europe's most outstanding skating-juggler, Kay Farelli; from Lithuania comes Jean Sakovitch, free style skater; from Switzerland, Hans and Ludh, and from Austria one of the funniest men on ice, Will Wallenborn.

The Ice Vogues has played in Marion twice before, each time with a different cast.

Some 95 slides on boys' work throughout the area were shown by Marvin Ludwig during the business meeting of the opening session.

The Rev. Ludwig and Mr. Kette attended the session on revision of area constitutions.

Churches of God Set Area Convention

Representatives from Churches of God in this area will attend a Central District Sunday School convention Sunday at the Union Bethel Church of the denomination east of Attica on U. S. Route 224. There will be afternoon and evening sessions. Making arrangements for attendance from the Mt. Pleasant and Salem Churches near Marion will be Roy Fout and Floyd Wallace together with the pastor, the Rev. S. F. Bauders.

The Rev. Robert Fast of Wharton will be the speaker at 3 p.m., and the Rev. Hubert Miller of Tiffin at 7. Music by the Junior Choir from the College Church at Findlay is being planned in charge of the Rev. Darrel Linder. A potluck supper will be served those attending both sessions. The general arrangements are in charge of the convention president, Ralph M. Bernard of Risingsun.

"I missed the chance to study music, so I'm going to see that my youngsters get the opportunity that passed me by." That's an everyday statement . . . usually followed by the everyday fact that most youngsters DO get the chance. However, many of them fall by the way for a number of reasons within the control of us parents.

It's up to us to see that music is always interesting to our young fry. We can do it, first of all, by being interested in the daily progress . . . by listening to the new pieces . . . commenting on them . . . praising a good performance. Practice should never be used as a punishment for misdeeds. Nor should a youngster ever be bribed to practice. Music should be PLAY . . . never PRACTICE. A routine play schedule should be set up so as not to interfere with outdoor fun and consequent resentment.

With your continued help and interest your child will make the most of his music lessons. And there'll be fun for everybody at your house come music-play time.

Now that summer vacation's coming up, it's a good time to start your child on a musical study. Choose an instrument for him that will be an inspiration and something to prize. Choose the best . . . and let us help you, where our trained and friendly staff will always welcome you at SHELLHORN'S MUSIC STORE. For everything musical. 184 South Main Street. Phone: 2-2713.

Ventilated Attic Means More House Comfort

While insulation is one of the most important improvements made in housebuilding, it is entirely inadequate unless it is accompanied by some of the other and older procedures for securing a comfortable dwelling. By that we mean that a fuller insulated house is no warmer in the winter than a poorly built shack, unless is has a heating plant. A fully insulated house is no more comfortable during the summer than a closed-up canvas tent, unless it is properly ventilated. When sensible measures are taken, insulation doubles in value.

One of the geatest mistakes made these days is the failure to ventilate the attic of a house. If a roof is insulated, or the floor of the attic insulated without provision being made for ventilation, the attic will soon become a furnace, and the high temperature developed there will soon transfer itself to the ceiling of the floor below and from there to the interior walls. If you doubt it, just climb on a chair and place your hand against the ceiling on a good hot day. The insulation will do its part in throwing back the heat, but you have to help it by seeing that there is an escape for any heat generated.

Windows in an attic are fine, but you always have the problem of running up and down to shut them during storms; so unless rooms are finished off in the attic, the most economical means of ventilation, and the least amount of trouble is found in the ready-to - install louvers. These triangular aluminum assemblies are very easy to install. They cost but a fraction of the price of windows and are set where they do the most good; right up close to the peak of the roof, where summer temperatures are the highest.

Be comfortable this summer. The cost is little and the results are great.

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

—By ROGER C. WHITMAN—

Fastening Plasterboard

Q: Recently we purchased a small home on the outskirts of the city and we find it was built with hollow tile. The inside walls were merely covered with some kind of preparation and then painted. How can we fasten plasterboard to hollow tile so that there would be an inside wall?

A: The walls would have to be furred out and to attach furring strips to a hollow tile wall it will be necessary to use what is generally described as toggle bolts. These can be purchased through your regular hardware dealer.

Smoking Fireplace

Q. We find that our fireplace smokes very slightly. Would the damper, which I believe is an old one, have anything to do with this condition? It seems to open and close well enough. What would you suggest?

A: If there is no severe smoking, it might be possible that there is a heavy accumulation of ash around the damper. Cleaning this out would undoubtedly bring about an improvement. Should the smoking occur when the fire is started, the condition could be eliminated by first burning some papers up in the damper area to create a draft condition in the chimney. The wood to be burned should be placed toward the back of the fireplace. The damper would then be able to draw smoke into the chimney.

Unused Cistern

Q: There is a large brick cistern under a back room of our house that is no longer used. It has been drained and cleaned. Owing to its location, filling in the space with earth seems to be out of the question. Would it be safe to let the cistern remain open in the future or would there be danger of gas accumulating therein? What precaution should be taken?

A: It would be safe enough to allow the cistern to remain open but there would always be a likelihood of some animal falling into it and dying of hunger because it couldn't get out. I suggest placing a wire screening or boards over the openings to prevent such possibilties. If boards are used coat them with a wood preservative to prevent rotting.

Finishing of Birch Doors

Q: We have new birch doors throughout the house and would like to know if it is all right to finish them with a clear varnish in order to show the natural wood. What is the present style of finishing birch? Please tell us the proper way to finish a door; that is, if it should be sanded, filled, etc.

A: The general tendency is to finish most woodwork without stain of much change in color so that finishing the doors with two or three coats of a good quality, quick-drying varnish would be quite satisfactory and in keeping with the general trend of wood finishing. In order to obtain a satisfactory finish, it is advisable to rub down the doors with a "O" sandpaper and then a "000" sandpaper until the surface is satin smooth. All dust should be wiped off with turpentine before the varnish is applied. Birch does not require a filler of any type.

ON THE HOUSE

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER, AP Real Estate Editor

(Second in a Series on Finishing Basements)

ANY DREAM of finishing a basement is going to fly right out of the cellar window if dampness is not controlled.

Exclusive moisture, especially in basements, is one of the worst enemies of houses. It can ruin furniture, clothing and books with mildew. It harbors vermin. It brings the house down.

However, in no case is it an incurable condition. It's quite a common problem that is being overcome by householders everywhere. Modern waterproofing and adequate ventilation can give any house a dry and healthful basement.

There are various ways to waterproof and/or dampproof basements. The method depends greatly on the individual condition. If the walls are damp or sweaty, that's one thing. If free water stands on the floor after a heavy rain, that's another matter. If water flows in when there is no rain, that's something else again.

THE SAFEST COURSE, if you can't tell where the dampness or water is coming from, is to get the advice of a reliable local contractor.

George A. O'Brien, a professional New York waterproofing consultant recently brought out a small book entitled "How to Waterproof Your Basement for as Little as $10" (Greenberg, Publisher, New York). You may not be as skilled as Author O'Brien assumes, and your basement condition may involve more or less of an expenditure, but the book gives a good roundup of the problem and its cure.

O'Brien recommends a cellar lining of portland cement mixture containing iron oxide. This is a standard waterproofing material. The iron expands as it oxidizes (rusts), sealing all crevices and pores.

The power of such oxidization was accidentally demonstrated at one of the U. S. island bases during World War II. Enough fresh water was not available for mixing the concrete. The salt water speeded up the oxidization of the reinforcing bars so much that all the concrete work exploded.

A NEW waterproofing paint containing iron particles has been developed. Where basement walls are dry or can be dried, such as during the winter heating months, and where there is no actively seeping water, this paint can be effective.

Dr. Roy A. Plumb, president of the laboratories, explains that this material is designed for use on unpainted, open-textured, porous masonry such as concrete and cinder blocks and brick, and can be used on both interiors and exteriors of foundations. It is not recommended for concrete floors or for smooth dense masonry.

In applying it, you scrub it into the surface with a stiff brush to work the iron particles well into the pores, then brush it smooth with a paint brush. After it's dry, it is sprayed several times with a fine fog spray of water until the entire surface is a uniform rust color. When well dried again it can be painted with portland cement paint and then finished with wall paint in any desired color.

THERE ARE VARIOUS other waterproofing and dampproofing materials that are brush-applied, or trowel-applied. Almost any of them are strong enough to check capillarity—the soaking of moisture through pores. But actual leaks of free water usually indicate tremendous pressure from the outside.

An old reliable method of water-proofing is to line it with membrane waterproofing, floor and walls, and then inner line that with metal lath and a parge coat of portland cement. This job calls for a professional, since the asphalt-impregnated membraning is hot-mopped and overlapped for tightness.

MOST CELLAR dampness however, is from capillarity or condensation. A good watertight paint usually overcomes the former and thorough ventilation prevents the latter.

If you plan to put up wood paneled walls on furring strips around your basement, leave spaces open at the bottom and top of each panel for ventilation and keep electric fans going liberally in muggy summer weather. This will keep the air in motion and minimize the formation of moisture when warm humid air settles against the cool masonry.

All furring strips and backs of panels for basement walls should be thoroughly sealed to prevent decay. The effectiveness of shellac and the ease of applying it usually offsets its cost for this purpose.

Asphalt tile on the floor will seal out any moisture that may rise through the concrete and will prove impervious to alkali and dampness from concrete in direct contract with the ground.

Love Triumphant

By ADELE GARRISON

Behind my father's back Dicky cocked quizzical eyebrows at me. I knew ruefully what the gesture meant. My father might declare that now "everything was settled," he must go, but both Dicky and I knew that with Lillian in her present state of mind, there was stormy weather ahead for me.

But that distinctly was my problem, not my father's, and I knew that I must not trouble him with my fears. He had done a yeoman-like job in bringing Lillian to a realization of the enormity of the thing she contemplated, but he had no idea that she still clung to the scheme, to which she, herself, had fitted the adjective "vile." I must take up the burden which he no longer suspected was in existence, and give him no hint of my tremors.

Katharine gave me the chance to pull myself together by going up to my father, and laying both her outstretched hands into his, quickly extended to enfold hers.

"How can I ever thank you, Chief?" she was saying, her voice vibrant, her eyes starry, and her face rose-tinted with happiness. "You have given me back the hope of happiness. Will you accept my promise that I shall not fail you?"

"I know that already, my dear," he said. Then he lifted her hands to his lips with an old world gesture, releasing them as the Adams' knock sounded on the door. In another half-minute, Katharine was out of the door, and, as soon as I closed it behind her, he spoke a bit tensely to Dicky and to me.

"I sincerely trust," he said, "that there will be a lull in—activities—for a few days at least. I see no reason why you both cannot relax, and store upenergy for the stormy days ahead of us. Unless I am needed, I shall not come up here again for several days.

"I wish to give you one admonition," he added. "Unless for routine or inconsequential matters do not use the regular telephone. The unlisted one is preferable. Call me, if you feel that you need me, and I will report any development to you as soon as I learn it. And now, my darling, till next we meet—"

He took me into his arms, kissed me tenderly, and released me just as Adams once more knocked upon the door. Dicky slipped his hand beneath the Chief's elbow.

"If you don't mind, sir," he said deferentially, "I'd like to go down with you to that other entrance where your armored car is waiting. I won't keep you. I'll come directly back here."

"I should love to have you do that very thing," my father said, and I knew that the suggestion had pleased him. "And when you come back, see to it that Margaret gets some rest. She has had a strenuous time."

"I'll ride herd on her," Dicky said, "but, you must remember, 'Old womans, she tuff.'"

All three of us laughted at the familiar reference to the retort given by a neighboring foreign-born farmer to a man who had reproved him for beating his wife, saying he might kill her. Then, with a farewell wave of his hand to me, my father went out of the door under Dicky's escort, and as it closed after them I sank into the nearest chair with the feeling that I would like to remain there forever and a day.

When Dicky came back, he looked at me keenly, and, pulling me up from my chair, marched me down to his bedroom, intoning softly a ridiculous old line of our childhood.

Shadrach, Meshach, and to-bed-you-go," he chanted as he lifted me to the bed, slipped off my shoes, and pulled up a blanket over me.

"I'll watch out for Lillian," he said. "If she stirs, I'll waken you, so—get to sleep."

Radio and Television

By JOHN CROSBY

Happy Birthday

Kraft Theater, which just celebrated its fifth anniversary, is now proudly claiming to be video's oldest show, a claim which will be disputed. There's no doubt that it's the oldest hour-long dramatic show, and it has one of the finest collections of firsts anywhere around. As any fool knows, a first is the nicest thing that can happen to a TV program. The name of the first actor to wear a toupee on TV has been lost to antiquity, but all the other firsts, even the first turtle race, have been set down for posterity.

Well, sir! Kraft was the first program to pass through the coaxial cable to Chicago, Jan. 12, 1949; first to use alternate directors; first to use NBC's largest studio, 8-H; first to use the coaxial cable to Philadelphia; first evening program on WNBT. It started off the program's evening schedule at 7 30 Only one other program was on the station that night.

FIVE YEARS is a short time, but TV has come a mighty long ways in that time. When Kraft first went on the air, its audience consisted of 32,000 sets, all in the New York area. There were no cables anywhere. Now it is available to roughly 20,000,000 set owners in forty-seven cities. Originally it was produced in a fifty-by-seventy-five foot studio, which with its cumbersome iconoscope pedestal type cameras, its cables and row of lights resembled an overcrowded, stifling closet. Pictures were flat, shadows non-existent and depth illusion impossible to create The heat was appalling and the actors looked as if they were dying of heat exhaustion. Each step was a problem Past experience couldn't serve as a guide, because there wasn't any past experience.

Today Kraft is in an air-conditioned 200-by-300 foot studio. With the vastly improved sensitivity of the image orthicon cameras, the rows and rows of lights have disappeared. You just don't need that much illumination for TV with the new cameras. Even with four cameras, confusion is held to a minimum. New facilities permit up to fourteen sets on one program; set building during the program thus has been almost eliminated Action can be televised from any angle. The tangle of wires has been greatly reduced by using electronic walkie-talkie intercom systems.

THE FIRST PLAY presented on Kraft was "Double Door," May 7, 1947. It got on by accident. Until three days before air time the original production was to have been "The Man With Red Hair." It had to be canceled because of production difficulties, and "Double Door" was substituted Since then some 260 plays, which is an awful lot of plays, have been shown on Kraft Only one of them, "The Vinegar Tree" failed to finish the course. The show ran overtime and viewers never did see the ending.

Settings in the 260 shows have run the gamut from Sandusky to Ceylon Authors have ranged from Shakespeare to Tolstoy to Groucho Marx, of all people Size of the cast has varied from two in "The Glove" to fifty-three in "Till Death Do Us Part," which incidentally called for the most settings (fourteen) ever used in a single show. When it first went on the air, Kraft relied almost exclusively on adaptations of plays or books or stories. Almost none was original. Today there is one original for every two adaptations, and Kraft has even commissioned one writer, Eric Hatch, to write an original play.

WHILE KRAFT boasts that its fare is extremely varied, ranging from comedies to Shakespeare to whodunits, it goes in for comedy probably more than any other type show. One hundred and thirty of the 260 have been comedies, as opposed to eighty dramas, thirty mysteries and twenty fantasies. That alone would mark it out as fairly unique. Most TV dramatic producers shy away from comedy, which is the riskiest venture of the various types of drama. The suspicion exists that no one has really figured out how to make comedy come off successfully on television.

Kraft, of course, is a solid commercial show, but it has had occasional lapses into art for prestige purposes, including productions of Macbeth," "Comedy of Errors," "A Doll's House" and "Valley Forge" Anyhow, happy fifth anniversary, Kraft, and best wishes for many more of the same.

Sokolsky

ican labor relation, was subordinated to government decisions. The strike was subordinated to government mediation, which is legalistically different from arbitration, but which, in application, comes to much the same thing with a government official as the third party. The vast governmental public relations service developed a favorable atmosphere.

Among labor leaders, the only one who fully recognized the menace of this development has been John L. Lewis, who has steadily opposed the destruction of the freedom of the American labor movement by a Fascistically-minded government. Lewis has, at times, taken steps which produced a violently antagonistic response among the people Many have felt that Lewis was overbearing and implacable. But this must be said for him: he has never submitted to Fascistic controls; he risked his union and his own leadership, but he did not risk the loss of the right of direct collective bargaining.

The recent action of President Truman in seizing the steel industry is part of this Fascistic pattern. It is in line with the doctrine that the government, not the people, is paramount. He may give the workers a wage increase if his doctrine of "inherent powers" is upheld, he could on the same grounds lower wages, increase hours, impose a speed-up, institute Stakhanovism, or do anything he pleased. There can be no collective bargaining with a government, and a strike could be declared by edict to be a revolution.

A precedent, once established, can and often has been used for distant purposes.

Kiwanis Hears Rex Kilbourn

Talks on "Fire, Man's Best Friend"

Rex Kilbourn of Marion, who makes a study of fire as a hobby, was guest speaker at the Marion Kiwanis Club weekly luncheon meeting Thursday at Hotel Harding, talking on "Fire—Man's Best Friend." He is plant engineer with the Marion Power Shovel Co.

Most people consider fire as an enemy, he said, but, stopping to consider, he added, without fire we would be unable to have many of the things we have today. Not much progress was made by man, the speaker explained, until he learned to control fire and to utilize its heat.

He presented a discussion of early civilization and the use of fire, explaining that it was about 2,000 years ago that man started to use the energy of fire for work.

Introduced as new members of the club were Merle Zieg and Roy Holdridge. Guests included Robert Reed, a visiting Kiwanian who recently moved to Marion from Meddleburg Heights, O., Don Cox, Richard Probst and J. Howard Iams.

Local Women Win Honors At Convention

The Marion County Federation of Women's Clubs and a Marion clubwoman, Miss Madge Cooper, captured first honors at the annual convention of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs this week in Dayton.

The Federation took top honors in the sale of articles made by the blind of the state and Miss Cooper's award was for her story, "The Town," entered by the Marion Federation in the short story and poetry division. Mrs Walter E. Hane, president of the Federation, accepted the awards on behalf of the federation and Miss Cooper.

Sales conducted by the local clubwomen netted $3,244.40 this year. Of this amount $361 was realized on a sale conducted at the Marion County Fair. The award, which amounted to $165.84, will be used this year, as in former years, to purchase books, games, equipment and other necessities for use in the sight-saving classes at the George Washington School.

The sale of articles made by the blind of the state, has been a major project of Marion County clubwomen for many years and the Federation has, for several years, been rewarded by placing first in the state. This year the amount was several hundred dollars ahead of the nearest contender, the Akron Federation.

Miss Helen Bowe has served as county chairman of the sale for the last several years. In the local sales the El Dorado Club placed first and the All Arts Club of Prospect, second.

Miss Cooper's short story had a local setting. She is director of women's activities at the Marion Broadcasting Station, WMRN, a member of Le Mercure Club and the Marion Association of University Women. She has written short stories, has had a three-act play published and also has written a number of articles for magazines and farm journals.

Mrs. J. Edwin Probst, president-elect of the Federation, Mrs. Hane and Mrs. Clarence W. Weber, were among those attending the four-day convention and a large number of Marion clubwomen attended one or more sessions of the meeting. The 1953 convention will be held at Cleveland. The convention closed Friday afternoon.

Chicago Whips Reds to Take Over Second

Redlegs In Third After 7-3 Whipping

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Everybody is cheering for the giddy St. Louis Browns. How about three rahs and a tiger for the chipper Chicago Cubs.

Take a look at the National League standings. That club in second place isn't the "dark horse" Phillies. It isn't the "rocket rookies" of the Boston Braves. It isn't even the defending miracle-men New York Giants. C-H-I-C-A-G-O is the word.

A year ago the Windy Town ran a fever over its White Sox. The Go-Go Sox were the rage. Paul Richards was the reigning genius. Now the Sox are struggling along in sixth place. Wrigley Field interest is perking up.

Most of the National League owners ridiculed the Cubs all winter for not making deals.

"What can they do with that club? they asked. "How can they afford to stand pat? Eddie Miksis is the only pro on the roster."

That was the way the conversation ran at the winter meetings and around the training camps, too. Sure they won the Grapefruit League title. But they did that last year. It didn't mean a thing. Or did it?

Near Top Spot

The Cubs have carried their fine pre-season play into the regular season. With a 6-2 record they're within clutching distance of the lead, trailing Brooklyn by only one game.

Frankie Baumholtz has been a spring sensation. In Friday's 7-3 victory over Cincinnati, he rapped a triple and two singles to boost his average to .455. He has hit safely in all eight Cub games.

Hank Sauer's home run and two runs batted in booster him into a second place tie in both departments with three homers and 12 RBIs. Bob Rammazzotti, hitless Friday, had been so hot at bat that he chased Miksis over to shortstop when he returned to the lineup.

Bob Kelly silenced the Reds with five hits.

Needs Help

The St. Louis Cardinals' Gerry Staley needed help from Reliefer Al Brazle and solid hitting by Wally Westlake, Stan Musial and Steve Bilko to whip Pittsburgh, 6-4. The 28-year-old curver had a shutout until the seventh. When the Pirates jumped him for two more in the eighth, Brazle came in. Westlake, and Musial smashed three singles to account for half the Cards' 12 hits.

Harry Simpson, who floundered with a .229 average in his rookie year was the big noise in Cleveland's 5-4 victory over the White Sox. It was a tight battle between Early Wynn and Billy Pierce 'until the ninth.

The upstart Brownies and Detroit were not scheduled. Everybody else was rained out, including the first '52 Polo Grounds meeting of Brooklyn and the New York Giants. Other postponements were New York at Washington and Boston at Philadelphia in the American and Philadelphia at Boston in the National.

Fights Last Night

NEW YORK (St. Nicholas Arena) —Bobby Dykes, 153½, Miami, outpointed Ted Murray, 147, New York, 10.

DENVER — Charley Riley, 125½, St. Louis, stopped Corky Gonzales, 128, Denver, 8.

PHOENIX — Willie Vaughn, 152, Los Angeles, knocked out Chelo Ruiz, 152, Calexico, Calif., 2.

VETS WHIP ROOKIES

CINCINNATI (AP) — The veterans whipped the rookies Friday night as the University of Cincinnati wound up its spring football practice. The "Black Cats," made up of veterans, took a 26 to 6 decision from the "Red Bears," an all-rookie combination.

LESSONS FROM AN EXPERT. Zoe Ann Jensen, famed swimmer, introduces her 18-month-old daughter, Jan, to the Athens Athletic Club swimming pool at Oakland, Calif. Zoe Ann, wife of New York Yankee Outfielder Jackie Jensen, is back in training and hopes to make a berth on the 1952 U. S. Olympic diving team.

Robb Denies Report He Plans To Quit

CEDAR GROVE, N. J. (AP)—Umpire Douglas (Scotty) Robb says he deserved the public wrist-slapping handed him this week by National League President Warren Giles and hopes the incident soon will be forgotten.

At the same time, from his home here, the umpire denied reports he may be planning to resign and said he would be in St. Louis today to resume his duties.

"Mr. Giles made the only decision he could have made after hearing the report," Robb added. "I made a mistake and was punished for it.

"No, I'm not a bit resentful of the way the matter was handled. I think I deserved what I got."

Reports that Rob was planning to quit swept baseball ranks Friday night after he had failed to show up for his regular assignment in Pittsburgh and had returned to his home here.

"I just had some personal business I wanted to clear up," the umpire said. "I got permission to get the day off. It was just a coincidence, that's all."

Robb was fined and disciplined publicly by Giles for shoving Eddie Stanky, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, during a flareup in the Card-Cincinati game Tuesday night at Cincinnati.

Kitty Prefers Sweets, Professor Thinks

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (UP)—A Pennsylvania State College professor investigating feline taste buds says that Tabby may not be such a sour puss after all.

Dr. Hubert W. Frings, an associate professor of entomology, said it's a mistake to think that the family cat has no use for sweets. Dr. Frings, who has devoted research to the tastes of many animals, takes issue with a European scientist who reported that the cat has no liking for sugar or sweet tasting food.

Beverly Cox, a graduate student, helped the professor corral 20 cats at the farm of her parents near Tyrone, Pa. They were plied with diluted milk, both with and without sugar. The kitties drank the sweetened milk and snubbed the other kind every time.

Dr. Frings said he didn't use whole milk because the cats would lap it up too eagerly to tell whether the sugar made any difference.

IBC Without Top Attraction After Robinson Refusal

NEW YORK (AP)—The International Boxing Club, which thought it had a natural money-maker all lined up involving Sugar Ray Robinson and Joey Maxim for the light he vyweight championship, was back shopping for another star attraction today —and nothing much was in sight.

The proposed Robinson-Maxim battle fell through Friday. Sugar Ray wouldn't have any part of it. He wants to campaign in Europe this summer and will sail on the Liberte on May 24.

Stranahan Seeks Third Title Today

PINEHURST, N. C. (AP)—The fellows named Frank—Stranahan and Strafaci—each with a pair of North and South Amateur championships in his collection, went after a third title in today's 36-hole finals.

Stranahan, 29-year-old Toledo, O., muscleman whose hobby is weight liftting, continued on his program of winning every third year with a 3 and 2, 36-hole semi-final victory over Mal Galletta, St. Albans, N. Y., Friday. Stranahan won in 1946, repeated three years later, and now, again three years later, is one victory away from the title.

Strafaci, 35-year-old insurance man from Flushing, L. I., last man to win two in a row (1938-39) outlasted Harry Haverstick of Lancaster, Pa., for his fourth successive one-up victory.

Geissler High Man

Harding Thinclads Win Third Title at Fremont

Harding High School won the annual Fremont Relays for the third straight year Friday, at Fremont racing by second-place Sandusky by a 20-point margin.

The meet, as was expected, narrowed down to a two-team duel between the Blue Streak runners and Harding. When the final event was over, Coach Ken Somerlot's charges had posted 84½ points. Sandusky had 63. Toledo Clay finished third with 32½ points, Fremont was fourth with 27½ and Port Clinton garnered 16½.

The weather was clear but a little chilly, as the temperature hovered in the middle 40's. The cool air did not hamper the runners, however, as good times were turned in in all events, Somerlot said.

Wins Three Firsts

Harding's Paul Geissler was high scorer for the meet with a total of 20½ points. He finished first in the 100-yard dash, the 220-yard dash, the 180-yard low hurdles and tied for third in the high jump. Ted Price gave Harding a first in the mile run, John Ashworth in the half mile, Jim Russell in the shot put and Jack Craft in the pole vault.

Ashworth set a new meet record in his performance. He completed the half-mile run in 2:03.8. Craft was held from another possible new mark when the pole vaulters were stopped to make way for the broad jump. The Harding vaulter already had soared to 10-10 when the vaulting was curtailed.

Harding picked up several points on Sandusky by placing two men in most events. Dick Tway ran a 53.7 and Tom Morton a 54.3 in the 440 to furnish a thrilling race with Sandusky's ace, Holtzmiller. Sophomore Fred Price came in third in the 880 with a time of 2:08.5, Jack Boxwell got off his best throw of the season in the discus with a heave of 132 feet, 9 inches. Ronnie Reed, junior pole vaulter, cleared 10-4 to take third place in that event.

Travel To Findlay

The Prexy thinclads will travel to Findlay Tuesday night for a triangular meet with Fremont and Findlay. The meet will get under way at 6:30. The Harding Night Relays will be held next Friday at the Stadium.

OSU Nine Wins Big Ten Opener

CHICAGO (AP) — Ohio State, scoring all its runs in the fourth inning, opened defense of its Big Ten baseball title with a 4-1 win over Michigan State Friday.

Stew Hein's two-run homer featured the uprising. Paul Ebert, the Buckeye's basketball star, held the Spartans to four hits.

Illinois, last year's runnerup, got off to a bad start as the conference season began, buried by Michigan under a 20-7 score.

A pitching shutout was recorded by Minnesota's Ken McGonagle as the Gophers beat Iowa 6-0. In other opening Big Ten games, Wisconsin took Purdue, 7-2, behind Ronald Unke's five-hit twirling, and Northwestern beat Indiana, 8-4, as Buster Carlson hurled a seven hitter.

Brewers Increase Association Lead

By The Associated Press

Milwaukee increased its American Association lead to two games Friday night, beating Minneapolis, 8-7, as runnersup Louisville and Indianapolis lost.

Toledo, which had been defeated by Louisville, 18-2, Thursday, came back with a 3-2 win over the Colonels. Louisville got only four hits off Mud Hen Starter Glen Moulder in 7⅓ innings and none off Harry Grubb, who finished.

Columbus had the same 3-2 edge over Indianapolis as Ed Ludwig hurled a five-hitter. The Indians' Ray Narleski gave up only four safeties, but three Indianapolis errors spoiled the effort.

Kansas City, struggling to get out of the Association cellar, blasted five home runs in a 9-7 victory over St. Paul.

Quiet Approach Needed For Nervous Perch

SEBEWAING, Mich. (UP) — Charlie Short, operator of an auto "taxi" service for ice fishermen on Saginaw Bay in Lake Michigan, won't drive closer than 800 feet to fishing grounds.

Perch, he says, are especially susceptible to vibrations which send them scooting away from a fishing hole.

"When someone just stamp his foot," Short said, "perch get out of the vicinity in a flash. Imagine what happens when a car sets up vibrations and creaking in the ice."

Tryouts For Little League To Be Concluded Next Week

Potential Little League baseballers apparently are a little confused on the scheduling of tryout sessions at Lincoln Park. The tryouts were started Monday night and held all week and will continue through next week.

The tryouts are split into age groups so as not to have the younger boys competing against the older group. Commissioners pointed out that the boy's league age is the age he will be on Aug. 1. If a boy is 10 years old now but will have a birthday before Aug. 1, then he trys out with the 11-year-old group. If he is 11 now but will become 12 before Aug. 1 then he belongs in the 12-year-old group.

Separate tryout sessions have been set for each age group in both the National and American Leagues. The National League is made up of the eastern sections of Marion while the American Loop includes the western sections.

Leagues Set Up

The leagues were determined by city school districts. Playing in the American League will be boys from Glenwood, Olney, Oakland, Silver and Oak Street school districts. Boys from Greenwood, Forest Lawn, George Washington, Pearl, Mark and North Main Street district's will compete in the National Circuit.

The center line for the two leagues runs from the north end of the veterans' housing unit south to the southern edge of the city. However, the line does not run in a straight line so that some boys living west of the center of Marion will be playing with teams in the eastern league.

Eligibility for play in the league area is not based on attending one of the schools used as boundary lines but on residence in the district. That means that boys from St. Mary grade school will play with the team in their school districts. It also means that there probably will be some boys living on the outskirts of Marion who will not be eligible to play. Despite attending a Marion school they do not live within the prescribed boundaries. Commission members established the boundary line where it seemed to be the most feasible.

The try-out schedule for next week follows:

AMERICAN LEAGUE (WEST)

Tuesday, up to 10 years, 5 p.m.
Thursday, 11 years ..... 5 p.m.
Saturday, 12 years ..... 2 p.m.

NATIONAL LEAGUE (EAST)

Monday, up to 10 years 5 p.m.
Wednesday, 11 years .... 5 p.m.
Friday, 12 years ..... 5 p.m.

Doubles in Ninth

Simpson Hero in Tribe's 5-4 Win Over Chicago

DETROIT (AP)—Bob Lemon tries to join Early Wynn today as a three-game winner for the Cleveland Indians. To do it, he will have to hand the winless Detroit Tigers their ninth straight loss.

Wynn got No. 3 in the last inning against the Chicago White Sox before 4,677 chilly fans in Cleveland Stadium yesterday, 5-4.

Up to the ninth it was a 2-2 pitching battle between Southpaw Billy Pierce and Wynn.

The Tribe's two runs came on Ray Boone's second-inning homer and four singles in the first inning. The four base hits were by Harry Simpson, Bob Avila, Pete Reiser and Al Rosen, but Simpson was caught napping off second to deprive the Tribe of at least one more marker by the rally.

Scores Two

Simpson made up for it in the ninth with a double that sent Pierce to the showers and brought home Boone, who singled, and Jim Hegan who had walked. That made the score 4-4. With one out, Lois Aloma gave an intentional walk to Avila and Billy Kennedy handed out an unintentional one to Pinchhitter Johnny Berardino to load the bases.

Up came Luke Easter, who previously had fanned three times and got his first base on balls of the season on four straight pitches by Pierce. Easter said he "was just trying to get the ball out of infield," and he did with a looping fly to center. Simpson beat Jim Busby's throw to the plate and tallied the game-ending run.

The White Sox got single scores on Wynn in the third and fifth. The first run was scored by Hector Rodriguez who singled, advanced on Pierce's sacrifice and came home on Nellie Fox's single. Rodriguez drove in the second run by singling after Chico Carrasquel's double.

The two-run White Sox rally in the ninth looked like defeat for the Tribe. Ed Stewart singled to center with two out, and Orestes Minoso tripled for his third hit of the game. Boone's relay to the plate was wild, and Minoso scored to put Chicago ahead 4-2 when the Indians came to bat for the last time.

Art Houtteman was the probable starter for Detroit against Cleveland today; and Ted Gray is expected to work against the Tribe's Mike Garcia Sunday.

Centerfielder Larry Doby probably will not be in the Cleveland lineup for either game here. He is nursing a pulled leg muscle, and a special orthopedic brace has been designed for him to wear in future games. Trainer Wally Bock thinks it may keep the injury from recurring.

Dykes Wins Unanimous Decision From Murray

NEW YORK (AP) — Bobby Dykes is back on the trail toward another title shot at Welterweight Champ Kid Gavilan.

Making his first start since his split-decision loss to the Cuban Feb. 4, Dykes gave Ted Murray, 147, New York, a sound pasting to win a unanimous 10-round decision Friday night at St. Nicholas Arena.

Slim Bobby a six-footer built like a basketball player, won every round but one. Referee Al Berle and Judge Art Aidala had it 9-1 and Judge Bill Healey scored nine for Dykes and one even.

Dykes gave an exhibition of fine boxing in the early rounds. He warmed to his job in the seventh with crumpling body blows and dropped the New York Negro for an automatic eight count in the tenth.

Prexies Hold Title

130 Athletes, 8 Schools Expected For Running Of 3rd Harding Relays

By JOHN SHORT

Harding High School will be host to an expected 130 track men from seven visiting schools Friday when the third annual Harding Invitational Relays are held at the stadium.

Eight schools will be competing in the meet. They are Bexley, Findlay, Fostoria, Newark, Tiffin Columbian, Upper Arlington, Worthington and the host Prexies. In case of inclement weather, the meet will be held Saturday. The Prexy thinclads will be defending champions.

In an effort to bring out local track fans an early ticket sale is being held. Tickets are being sold in Markert and Lewis and all three junior high schools in the city, or may be purchased from any member of the Harding track team. Price of the tickets will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for students.

Opens at 4:15

Preliminaries will get under way at 4:15 and field events will be started at 6. Finals in the running events will be held at 7:45 under the lights. Sterling Geesman of Ohio Wesleyan will serve as starter.

The school winning the meet will be presented the Midtown Chevrolet rotating trophy and a large permanent trophy. The runner-up squad also will receive a trophy. A trophy will be awarded the winners of the mile relay and the 880-yard relay and a special award will go to the high scorers of the meet. Medals will be awarded the first three finishers in each event with ribbons going to the fourth and fifth place finishers.

Two special events will be run. One a Marion County 880 relay, will be open only to trackasters from Marion County schools while a junior high school 880 will be held for the three junior high schools in Marion.

The Harding Relays were started three years ago by Ken Somerlot, local track coach, and since that time has become the top track event of the year in this area. Ashland won the title in the 1950 meet but Somerlot's thinclads came back to take the crown last year.

Hold Five Marks

Harding athletes hold five outright records and are tied for a sixth in the 14 events. Big Paul Ludwig set the two marks and tied a third in last year's session. He hurled the shot a distance of 46-5½ and completed the 180-yard low hurdles in 20.7 seconds for relay records while going over the 120-yard high hurdles in 15.7 seconds to tie the mark set in 1950 by Galion's Neuman.

Harding's top runner, John Ashworth, will be shooting to better his own mark in the 880-yard run. He set the mark of 2:08.5 in last year's session. He also will be shooting for the mile record of 4:52.6 set last year by Ted Price. The Harding team also set the mile relay record at 3:44.5 last year. Other records are held by Findlay's Bill Garnes in the high jump with a leap of 5-9½; Ashland's Tarr in the pole vault, with a mark of 11 feet; Bill Rogers of Ashland in the broad jump, at 20 feet. Eskers of Findlay in the discus, with a heave of 129-5; Garnes in the 440, with a time of 53 seconds; and Bexley's Montague in the 220, with a mark of 22.5 seconds, and in the 100-yard dash, at 10.4 seconds.

In desert areas, especially those with very little vegetation, the range of temperature in a single day is usually much greater than in wetter areas.

BOWLING RESULTS

City Votes To Enforce Parking Meter Law

GRAHAM, N. C. (UP) — This city's parking meters, which have stood as mute symbols of indecision and legal controversy for nearly three years, finally will have some meaning again.

The board of town commissioners has decided to enforce a parking meter ordinance to replace one repealed in 1949. The company which installed the meters won a court suit, carried to the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, to force the town to use the meters and use proceeds to pay some $10,000 still owed on their cost and installation.

SCOOTER SCOOTS LAD TO HOSPITAL. Douglas Helen, 3, was aboard his scooter in Minneapolis when he got a thumb caught in a hole in the handle. His family couldn't release it. Nor could a police squad. Officers did remove the handle from the scooter, taking it—and Douglas—to General Hospital. There, Dr. Kenneth Ahola (right) and the boy's father (center) stand by while Douglas Djerf wields a hacksaw to free the thumb. Sole casualty—scooter handle.

Mile Run Tops Action In Penn Relays

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Don Gehrmann and his FBI shadow, Fred Wilt, play another chapter in their serial track rivalry today, but if they're not careful both may play a supporting role in the mile feature of the 58th annual Penn Relay Carnival.

Both Lt. Warren Druetzler, former Michigan State star now stationed at Camp Lee, Va., and Denis Johansson, the 1,500 meter champion of Finland, are in the field and quite capable of showing their heels to Gehrman and Wilt.

The milers aren't the only ones hoping for clearer skies. Michigan's Big 10 distance runners, thwarted Friday in an effort to break their week-old distance medley record of 9:56.3, today are gunning for the four-mile relay meet mark of 17:16.2 set in 1937 by Indiana. They have a good chance of doing it if the track is dried out.

Michigan's colorful medley quartet of Aaron Gordon, John Carroll, John Ross and Don McEwen, ran a creditable 10:18.1 in edging Lockbourne Air Base of Columbus in the distance medley run. The service team, on the wings of a great anchor leg by Hobart Jones, comparative unknown trackman from Nebraska, trailed by only a few yards at the finish.

New Stance, Bat Caused Improvement

DETROIT (AP)—A lighter bat and a new crouching stance may turn skinny Harry Leon Simpson into the right fielder the Cleveland Indians have been hunting for years.

The 26-year-old Georgia Negro drove in two runs that tied the score against Chicago Friday, then came home himself with the run that won the game 5-4. Up five times, he belted a double and two singles.

Simpson now leads Indian hitters with seven runs batted in—something of a feat for a lead-off batter. His average in the first 10 games has been .325, compared to .229 he hit last year, his rookie season.

"I'm not chopping the ball into the ground so much," Harry said in explaining his improvement. "The new shorter and lighter bat makes it easier to meet the ball squarely. I'm going for base hits, not home runs."

His performance backs up this self-analysis. The two-run double he hit is the only extra-base blow among the 13 hits Simpson has collected in 10 games. He had two singles and two walks for a perfect day at the plate in the home opener, and he hit safely in each of the Tribe's first five games.

"Every time I go up to the plate, I'm doing my darndest to get a hit, and that's all that was on my mind," Simpson said after his game-saving performance. All three of his hits came off Southpaw Billy Pierce. Simpson couldn't average even .200 against left-hand pitchers last year. He says, however:

"Most of my time in baseball, I hit southpaws better than right-handers, and I hope I'm getting back to normal this season."

Assumes Family Service Position

Miss Marjorie Pribe took over her duties as general office worker and receptionist at the newly-established Marion County Family Service Society, 149 S. Main St. Thursday.

A former employe of the public school system in Mt. Victory, Miss Pribe more recently was employed with the Marion Power Shovel Co.

The Family Service Society, Marion County's newest Red Feather Agency, is under the direction of Mrs. Doris M. Maxwell.

The hiring of an additional staff member will enable the office to be open full time from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Judge Edward J. Razzo, president of the society's board of trustees said today.

Depot Officer Tells Group About Turkey

Major Charles D. Starbuck, an officer at the Marion Engineer Depot, spoke to the Marion Post, Society of American Military Engineers, at its meeting Monday night in the Officers Club at the Depot.

Major Starbuck spoke on the country of Turkey, having recently returned from a tour of duty there. He discussed the background of ancient Turkey to the present, and told of the religion and customs of its people.

He told of the country and people of Turkey being provided with equipment from this country for farming and other production, and of training schools which were set up to teach the people of Turkey to use the equipment.

Major Starbuck expressed the belief that Turkey is the strongest military nation in the Far East, and said he feels the United States would have a strong ally in Turkey in the event of a world war.

A film dealing with the country of Turkey also was shown.

President of the Marion organization, Major Carmello DeSimone, submitted his resignation, announcing he is to leave the last of May for overseas duty. The resignation of Herbert Duerr as secretary of the organization also was accepted. He is being transferred to a Depot in Pasco, Wash., on May 9. Election to fill two vacancies will be held at the next meeting, May 19. A social hour followed the meeting.

Held in Shooting Of Ex-Wife And Kenton Man

ROCHESTER, Ind. (INS) — A Rochester man is being held today on open charges in connection with the arbush shooting of his ex-wife and a Kenton, O. Erie Railroad crewman.

Fulton County police said Byron Zimmerman, 40, admitted wounding his divorced wife, Sallie, 38, and her escort, Gene Healy of Kenton, Monday night as the two neared her home.

Mrs. Zimmerman is in an Indianapolis hospital with a bullet wound in her back. Healy suffered a flesh wound on his left arm and is back at work.

Police said Zimmerman told them he fired the shots from a rifle while riding near the home.

Artists use brushes today which are believed to be about the same as those used in 3,000 B.C.

Teachers To Study U.S. Economy

HARTFORD Conn (UP)—Nearly 2 000 American school teachers will attend workshops this summer in an attack upon economic illiteracy

They will bring back to their classrooms in the fall subject matter on the American economy, its strengths weaknesses and present-day challenges The 28 workshops mostly on university campuses will be held in 19 states and Hawaii Average length of a workshop is three weeks

During that period teachers hear lectures on economic subjects by experts in their field, discuss problems with the speakers and then are assisted by curriculum experts in planning a classroom presentation that will be meaningful to their pupils

Here are some of the subjects considered by teachers at a typical workshop What are the achievements and potentialities of our economy', how does a free enterprise economy function' what are its energizing and controlling forces', what economic problems does mobilization impose how can we deal with current inflationary pressures', what are the problems of agriculture, what is our farm price support policy', what are the problems of labor-management relations' what are the problems of social security and social welfare', what is America's role in world trade'

At workshop sessions teachers are in association with business men and industrialists labor leaders, representatives of agriculture, government and civic organizations

Rudy Valentino's Horse Saved For Posterity

DAVIS Calif (UP)—Rudolph Valentino's gray Arabian Stallion Jadaan, is now a prized skeleton

The skeleton of Jadaan, one of the most photographed Arabian stallions in history, was preserved through the efforts of C L Howell, professor of animal husbandry at the University of California college of agriculture here

Jadaan carried the matinee idol to fame in such motion pictures as 'The Son of the Sheik' 'Beau Ideal" and 'Garden of Allah' When old age claimed the stallion six years ago Prof Howell made the necessary arrangements for the future mountings of the skeleton It now has been completed

Jadaan an outstanding parade horse was ridden by the grand marshall of the 1931 Rose Tournament parade at Pasadena He also was ridden by old-time movie cowboy Ken Maynard, impersonating Buffalo Bill in the 1930 Rose Tournament Parade
